Alfred Bader The Adventures Of A Chemist Collector:

Chemistry & Art Alfred Bader, 2008 The second volume of Alfred Bader's remarkable autobiography begins where Adventures of a Chemist Collector ended with the boardroom coup in which Alfred was dismissed from the chemical company he had built up from the ground. He now turns his enormous energy to old master paintings in which he has been interested from a young age and in which he now has the means to invest. What follows is a series of notes and stories on the world of art seen through the eyes of Alfred Bader particularly meaningful paintings or groups of paintings descriptions of memorable auctions mysteries and discoveries relating to the artworks in the Bader Collection. All this is infused with insights on friends family love religion charity and occasionally chemistry. BOOK JACKET Adventures of a Chemist Collector Alfred Bader, 1995-01-01 Born in Vienna Alfred Bader fled to England at the age of fourteen ten months before the outbreak of World War II. Although a Jewish refugee from the Nazis he was interned in 1940 along with other enemy aliens and sent to a Canadian prisoner of war camp. Obtaining his release in 1941 he was accepted at Queen's University in Kingston Ontario where he studied engineering chemistry. There followed a fellowship in organic chemistry at Harvard. He worked in Milwaukee as a research chemist for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and in 1951 co-founded Aldrich which today as Sigma Aldrich is the world's largest supplier of research chemicals. He spent forty years building Aldrich's distinctive reputation and the extraordinary story of how he was eventually thrown off the board of Sigma Aldrich will be of key interest to people in the chemical industry worldwide as well as to students of business. After leaving Sigma Aldrich he continued a fruitful career as an art collector and dealer and he has some very pertinent and amusing things to say about his experiences in the art world. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Queen's University, Volume III, 1961-2004 Duncan McDowall, 2016-04-01 Founded in 1841 by a royal charter Queen's University evolved into a national institution steeped in tradition and an abiding sense of public service. Propelled initially by its Presbyterian instincts and an attachment to Gaelic culture Queen's has prospered and adapted over the years to match Canada's ever-changing dynamics. In this third volume of Queen's University's official history Duncan McDowall demonstrates that the late twentieth century was a contest between expediency and tradition waged through crisis and careful evolution. Testing Tradition calibrates the durability of Queen's vaunted traditions in the face of shifts in the broader Canadian society. During this time of massive postsecondary expansion Queen's grew sevenfold from a small collegial campus of 3 100 students to a sprawling cosmopolitan place of more than 20 000 students from over 120 countries engaged in undergraduate graduate and professional programs. Measuring Queen's University's responses to concerns over social diversity human rights and gender equity through the eyes of its trustees administrators students faculty and the Kingston community this volume pays particular attention to the experiences of women and visible minorities at the university. Copiously illustrated with photographs of important people events and aspects of campus life this volume shows how Queen's
