Lienhard, 2003-09-18 Modern is a word much used but hard to pin down In Inventing Modern John H. Lienhard uses that word to capture the furious rush of newness in the first half of 20th century America An unexpected world emerges from under the more familiar Modern Beyond the airplanes radios art deco skyscrapers Fritz Lang's Metropolis Buck Rogers the culture of the open road Burma Shave Kerouac and White Castles lie driving forces that set this account of Modern apart One force says Lienhard was a new concept of boyhood the risk taking hands on savage inventor Driven by an admiration of recklessness America developed its technological empire with stunning speed Bringing the airplane to fruition in so short a time for example were people such as Katherine Stinson Lincoln Beachey Amelia Earhart and Charles Lindbergh The rediscovery of mystery powerfully drove Modern as well X Rays quantum mechanics and relativity theory had followed electricity and radium Here we read how with reality seemingly altered hope seemed limitless Lienhard blends these forces with his childhood in the brave new world The result is perceptive engaging and filled with surprise Whether he talks about Alexander Calder an engineer whose sculptures were exercises in materials science or that wacky paean to flight Flying Down to Rio unexpected detail emerges from every tile of this large mosaic Inventing Modern is a personal book that displays rather than defines an age that ended before most of us were born It is an engineer's homage to a time before the bomb and our terrible loss of confidence a time that might yet rise again out of its own postmodern ashes The Nobel Prize in Medicine and the Karolinska Institute Bengt Ljunggren, G. Golden, 2018-04-24 Scientific Elite is about Nobel prize winners and the well defined stratification system in twentieth century science It tracks the careers of all American laureates who won prizes from 1907 until 1972 examining the complex interplay of merit and privilege at each stage of their scientific lives and the creation of the ultra elite in science The study draws on biographical and bibliographical data on laureates who did their prize winning research in the United States and on detailed interviews with forty one of the fifty six laureates living in the United States at the time the study was done Zuckerman finds laureates being successively advantaged as time passes These advantages are producing growing disparities between the elite and other scientists both in performance and in rewards which create and maintain a sharply

graded stratification system
