A House In Corfu:

A House in Corfu Emma Tennant, 2002 A House in Corfu is the story of one of the most beautiful places on earth still astonishingly unspoilt on the west coast of Corfu In the early 1960s Emma Tennant's parents on a cruise spotted a magical bay and decided to build a house there This book is the story of that house Rovinia set in 42 hectares of land above the bay where legend has it Ulysses was shipwrecked and found by Nausicaa daughter of King Alcinous It is also the story of the people who have been at Rovinia since the feast in the grove at the time of putting on the roof Maria a miraculous cook and the presiding spirit of the house and her husband Thodoros and of the inhabitants of the local village high on the hill above the bay Full of colour and contrast A House in Corfu shows the huge changes in island life since the time of the building of the house and celebrates equally the joy of belonging to a timeless world the world of vine olive and sea

Small Worlds, Global Lives Russell King, John Connell, 1999-10-01 Geologists most from Australia and Britain but with some outliers from continental Europe and North America focus on small islands where the scarcity of people and resources make migration substantially important socially and economically The topics include the Azores historical cultural and literary perspectives on emigration from the minor islands of Ireland Nevis and the post war labor movement in Britain islands and the migration experience in the fiction of Jamaica Kincaid from dystopia to utopia on Norfolk Island Tongans online the changing contours of migrant Samoan kinship and finding a retirement place in sunny Corfu

Ricci, 2017-09-29 Travel Tourism and Identity addresses the psychological and social adjustments that occur when people make contact with others outside their social cultural or linguistic groups Whether such contact is the result of tourism seeking exile or relocating abroad the volume's contributors demonstrate how one's identity cultural assumptions and worldview can be brought into question In some cases the traveller finds that bridging the social and cultural gap between himself and the new society is fairly easy In other cases the traveller discovers that reorienting himself requires absorbing a new cultural history and traditions The contributors argue that making these adjustments will surely enhance the traveller's or tourist's experience otherwise the traveller or tourist will be at risk of becoming a marginalized figure one disconnected from the society that surrounds him This latest volume in the Culture Civilization series features a collection of essays on travel and tourism The essays cover a range of topics from historical travels to modern social identities They discuss ancient travels contemporary travels in Europe Africa and sustainable eco tourism and the politics of tourism Essays also address experiences of Grenada's Spice Island identity and the effects of globalization and migrations on personal identity
