

Cinderella 7
Charles Perrault

As soon as she arrived home, the clock struck midnight. Her carriage and horses once again became a pumpkin and her four favorite mice, and her dress shrunk back down into dirty, ugly rags.

In the morning, the door into the kitchen swung open and Cinderella's nasty stepsisters rushed eagerly inside. They couldn't wait to tell her about the magnificent ball and all the things she had missed. They even told her all about the mysterious princess in the beautiful dress, who had kept the prince to herself all night before running away very suddenly.

Cinderella, who was busy putting clean pots and dishes back into the cupboard, listened to their stories, and when they finished she asked them what the name of the princess was.

Of course, they couldn't answer her question. No one knew her name, not even the prince! He had absolutely no idea who the mysterious girl was, which is why he had asked every single person at the ball about who she was. He was desperate to find her!

"She must have been truly gorgeous," Cinderella said, cautiously. "You're so lucky that you saw her. I wish I could see her as well! Do you think perhaps I could borrow your yellow gown and go with you tonight, my dear sister?"

"You? Borrow my dress?" Nina burst into mocking laughter. "Are you crazy? I'd sooner lend it to the chimney sweep!" Still laughing, she left the kitchen, slamming the door behind her.

Cinderella didn't expect anything else, of course, and was actually happy that her sister had said no!

The day flew by fast. The sisters spent it pushing each other away from the mirror so they could use it. They fought over which dress to wear to the ball and how to wear their hair. Cinderella was, of course, waiting on them hand and foot, while also doing all the other jobs around the house that needed doing.

She gathered the eggs from clucking hens, swept and mopped the floors, wiped down the tables after her sisters had used their beauty powders and finally sat to rest.
