more complex and diverse types of processed foods demanded by urban consumers as their earning power increases. Because the urban population of 1.6 billion in developing countries in 1988 will grow to 2.1 billion by the year 2000, one can expect a significant growth in the food-processing industries.¹⁵ (A billion equals 1,000 million.) The mix of processed foods will change to favor those requiring higher levels of transformation, as indicated in table 1-1. Population and income growth are increasing faster in developing countries than in indus-
