

Stuck In Traffic

The highway is packed, and it made me realize that my life isn't going anywhere.
There is barren land on both sides with hills at a distance teasing me with all the possibilities that could've been.

Why do we all take up these narrow paths
when the world at large is so free and wide?
What are we afraid of? Do we just want to cling to each other even when we are not going anywhere?

We cross a bridge, a river runs beneath us.
I see it unwind to I don't know where, and all I can think of is to jump to take me with it even though I can't swim.

Human-beings have been reduced to members of a dysfunctional ant-farm, and it's not the pain of realizing this, but it's the emptiness and pointlessness
I fear.

At least one feels pain, but what does one do when he feels nothing?

enormous changes men have experienced in recent years As the editors state in their introduction A quiet revolution has been taking place in men s poetry over the past few decades as men have been chronicling the history of their hearts and have been examining those relationships central to their being in the world their connections to their fathers and mothers their own sense of fatherhood and of being sons and brothers their marriages divorces and other aspects of their love lives as well as the ways they conceive of maleness and femaleness The poems collected in Men of Our Time 257 from more than 170 poets include a wide mix of ethnic and racial perspectives that reflect the multicultural tenor of American life They reveal men s most intimate feelings about the loss of childhood sexual anxieties and fantasies aging self sufficiency and dependency and the perennial quest for a masculine identity Above all the poems are unapologetically grounded in a distinctly male experience or imagination Men of Our Time reclaims a poetry that is connected to and expressive of men s lives in the closing decade of the twentieth century

Avidly Reads Poetry Jacquelyn Ardam,2022-04-05 More Americans are reading poetry in the 21st century than ever before This book asks how do poems come to us How do they make us feel and think and act when they do Who and what is poetry for Who does poetry include and exclude and what can we learn from it Each chapter links a reason why we might read poetry to want to learn to resist to soothe with a type of poem the sonnet the alphabet poem the documentary poem the internet poem Through readings of poems written in English from Shakespeare through today and through reading the American cultures in which we read them the book thinks about how poems are embedded in our lives in our loves our educations our politics and our social media sometimes in spite of and sometimes very much because of the nation we live in
