A Field Guide to the Birds of Central Park Deborah Allen, The American Bird Conservancy Guide to Bird Conservation Daniel J. Lebbin, Michael J. Parr, George H. Fenwick, 2010-10-15 Whether we live in cities in the suburbs or in the country birds are ubiquitous features of daily life so much so that we often take them for granted But even the casual observer is aware that birds don't fill our skies in the number they once did That awareness has spawned conservation action that has led to notable successes including the recovery of some of the nation's most emblematic species such as the Bald Eagle Brown Pelican Whooping Crane and Peregrine Falcon Despite this a third of all American bird species are in trouble in many cases they're in imminent danger of extinction The most authoritative account ever published of the threats these species face The American Bird Conservancy Guide to Bird Conservation will be the definitive book on the subject The Guide presents for the first time anywhere a classification system and threat analysis for bird habitats in the United States the most thorough and scientifically credible assessment of threats to birds published to date as well as a new list of birds of conservation concern Filled with beautiful color illustrations and original range maps the Guide is a timely important and inspiring reference for birders and anyone else interested in conserving North America's avian fauna But this book is far more than another shout of crisis The Guide also lays out a concrete and achievable plan of long term action to safeguard our country's rich bird life Ultimately it is an argument for hope Whether you spend your early weekend mornings crouched in silence with binoculars in hand hoping to check another species off your list or you've never given much thought to bird conservation you'll appreciate the visual power and intellectual scope of these pages Red-Tails in Love Marie Winn, 1999-03-30 Updated Edition Ten Years Later The scene of this enchanting and true story is the Ramble an unknown wilderness deep in the heart of New York's fabled Central Park. There an odd and amiable band of nature lovers devote themselves to observing and protecting the park's rich wildlife. When a pair of red-tailed hawks builds a nest atop a Fifth Avenue apartment house across the street from the model boat pond, Marie Winn and her fellow Regulars are soon transformed into obsessed hawkwatchers. The hilarious and occasionally heartbreaking saga of Pale Male and his mate as they struggle to raise a family in their unprecedented nest site and the affectionate portrait of the humans who fall under their spell will delight and inspire readers for years to come.
