Eugene Boring, 2019-11-05 This book is written in the conviction that the church is called into being and nourished by the Word of God that comes through Scripture But how can Scripture offer any specific guidance for hearers lives today What are modern readers to make of the dragons and slaughtered lambs in the book of Revelation What are we to make of a man who turns water into wine while comparing himself to bread Can people today know what the Bible says and means The world of the Bible is strange and distant not only in time and space but also in language culture and in its basic assumptions about reality The first task in both pulpit and pew is not to be in too great a hurry to overcome this distance but to acknowledge it and respect it Communication across the gap is the task of the church s preachers and teachers Drawing on his years of teaching and study Gene Boring offers a way of opening the ears of those who take the message of the Bible seriously a message from a world different from our own Beginning with Revelation Gene provides a historically informed and pastorally sensitive reading of the various Johannine voices in the New Testament for contemporary preachers and teachers Imprints of the Future George T. Czuczka, 1987

Few books address the political scene by focusing on its underlying psychodynamics which some of us see as a major need. The author of this book does so with particularly apt attention to the future its perils and its possibilities from the foreword.

Social Working Gerald A.J. de Montigny, 1995-12-15. In this unique work directed at social workers, Gerald A.J. de Montigny maintains that they, along with other professionals, create an institutional reality through their day-to-day practices. He traces the practical ways that social workers, when involved in child protection, struggle to produce a world which can be ordered, systematized, and subjected to their powers. It is a penetrating and sensitive analysis of how social workers in their everyday practice make sense from a confusing collection of case details to create organizationally defined problems and cases. De Montigny uses the tension between his experience of growing up working class and the difficult process of becoming a social worker to explore the practical activities professionals use to secure organizational power and authority over clients. This tension has forced him to confront the dilemma of how to stand on the side of clients when standing inside professional and organizational realities. In the first half of the book, de Montigny focuses on the practices social workers use to produce a universalized professional form of knowledge. He examines social workers' use of ideological practices, fetishization of the social work profession, insertion of details from clients' lives into discursive order, accounting for front-line practice as a problem-solving scientific practice, and naming of their own frustrations, conflicts, tensions, and pain as professionally manageable phenomena. In the second half of the book, based on his own work in child protection, he systematically examines how such reality-producing practices come to be expressed as child protection. He develops a synthetic account of his social work interventions on cases of child abuse and neglect. This book should be read by all practitioners and students of social work. It is an original and practical application of theoretical arguments to the everyday reality of social work.

The Literature of Ireland Terence Brown, 2010-07-01. One of Ireland's foremost literary and cultural historians, Terence Brown's command of the intellectual and cultural currents running through the Irish literary canon is second to none, and he has been enormously influential in shaping the field of Irish studies. These essays reflect the key themes of Brown's distinguished career, most crucially his critical engagement with the post-colonial model of Irish cultural and literary history currently dominant in Irish Studies. With essays on major figures such as Yeats, MacNeice, Joyce, and Beckett, as well as contemporary authors including Seamus Heaney, Derek Mahon, Michael Longley, Paul Muldoon, and Brian Friel, this volume is a major contribution to scholarship, directing scholars and students to new approaches to twentieth-century Irish cultural and literary history.
