

For the Teacher:

Suggested Lesson Procedure:

First, explain the difference in a VO (Voiceover), VOTD (Voiceover + Timeline Page), and VO (Voiceover) story. You can use my VO to Broadcast lesson to highlight the differences and their examples.

Assign students to use any or all of the facts and quotes provided to write each type of story. Stories should start with some kind of hook that includes the most relevant and important information first. Sentences need to be short and conversational.

Remind students that in VO broadcast, you will write a story the most "new" way, although there are certain details or pieces of information that must absolutely be included in a story (who, what, where, when, why).

When students are finished, you can have them read their stories aloud so they would be used in a broadcast or VO story to give context (if both).

If you have any questions or issues, please reach out and let me know!

VO (Voice Over)

The lottery judged for the successful gave it up to 300 million

It's the 100 largest (about 1000)

There will be 100

There have been 10 consecutive drawings without a winner

The next drawing is tonight

The odds of winning are 1 in 175,000,000
