Social Work in a Corporate Era Linda Davies, 2017-09-29 A striking new feature of the welfare systems in many Western countries is the extent to which market relations have permeated social services Conceptions of risk management now dominate the way parents and children are responded to while new technologies aim to measure their relationship with state service providers Bureaucratic control is increasing while resources are reduced These factors have led to the demise of the traditional role of the social worker as one who engages with the client in a supportive encounter Professional competence within social work is increasingly tied to mastering scientific knowledge and new technical skills The result of collaboration between authors from Canada Britain and Australia Social Work in a Corporate Era offers a critical overview of these developments and their implications It provides a re evaluation of the assumptions and practices of the critical social work tradition and explores the possibility of rebuilding an emancipatory social work The authors aim to disentangle the debate between Marxism feminism and anti racism in the context of both postmodern challenges and the corporate restructuring of the welfare state Calling for the development of a new politics of social work practice this book addresses many of the urgent issues facing welfare state practitioners in health and social services today

Revitalising Communities in a Globalising World Lena Dominelli, 2018-02-06 Revitalising Communities in a Globalising World explores the opportunities and constraints that the dynamics of globalisation present for human development in a range of different countries and situations Arguing that globalisation is currently a system of organising social relations along neoliberal lines this timely volume examines practical examples of how people respond to significant social changes in their communities The idea of communities is deconstructed to show that globalisation has collapsed the boundaries of time space and place in ways that have exacerbated inequalities at the same time giving rise to unparalleled riches for some The book encompasses a number of case studies that speak to policymakers practitioners educators and students interested in studying globalisation and making the most of its potential for change Globalization and International Social Work Malcolm Payne, Gurid Aga Askeland, 2016-04-22 Globalization challenges social work with constant social change making a social worker's job and the task of social work education more complex and uncertain. Post modern thinking suggests that social workers must learn to cope with complexity in ways that are in tension with the increasingly managerialist organization of the social services. The authors explore and question the concepts of postmodern international and global in light of growing interest in international social work in the early 21st century. Emphasizing the importance of critical reflection, they argue that educational colonization can be challenged and effective anti discriminatory and pro equality practice and education promoted. Each chapter provides direct examples of how students and academics can apply these ideas in practice and in their learning and how they can respond to and influence the challenges and changes that are taking place. The authors also examine educational and practice issues arising from attempts to incorporate international understanding into national practice and education systems. The book is designed to be stimulating to academics interested in international social work while remaining accessible to practitioners and students without international experience.
