Ancient Judaism Debates and Disputes Jacob Neusner, 1993 Subtitled Essays on the formation of Judaism dating sayings method in the history of Judaism the historical Jesus publishing too much and other current issues Among the topics of the 18 essays are a phenomenological theory of the historical formation of normative Judaism the conception of the Original Tradition and the Mishnah in philosophy The Documentary History of Judaism and Its Recent Interpreters Jacob Neusner, 2012-07-10 The result for the history of Judaism of a documentary reading of the Rabbinic canonical sources illustrates the working of that hypothesis It is the first major outcome of that hypothesis but there are other implications and a variety of new problems emerge from time to time as the work proceeds In the recent past Neusner has continued to explore special problems of the documentary hypothesis of the Rabbinic canon At the same time Neusner notes others join in the discussion that have produced important and ambitious analyses of the thesis and its implications Here Neusner has collected some of the more ambitious ventures into the hypothesis and its current recapitulations Neusner begins with the article written by Professor William Scott Green for the Encyclopaedia Judaica second edition as Green places the documentary hypothesis into the context of Neusner's entire oeuvre Neusner then reproduces what he regards as the single most successful venture of the documentary hypothesis contrasting between the Mishnah's and the Talmuds programs for the social order of Israel the doctrines of economics politics and philosophy set forth in those documents respectively Then come the two foci of discourse Halakhah or normative law and Aggadah or normative theology Professors Bernard Jackson of the University of Manchester England and Mayer Gruber of Ben Gurion University of the Negev treat the Halakhic program that Neusner has devised and Kevin Edgecomb of the University of California Berkeley has produced a remarkable summary of the theological system Neusner discerns in the Aggadic documents Neusner concludes with a review of a book by a critic of the documentary hypothesis

The Social Structure of the Rabbinic Movement in Roman Palestine Catherine Hezser, 1997 While rabbinic literature enables us to know more about the rabbis than any of the other members of the Jewish population of Roman Palestine the social structure of the rabbinic movement remained largely unexplored In the present study Catherine Hezser combines a critical analysis of the available literary legal and epigraphic evidence with a selective employment of sociological models She examines the definition of the boundaries of the rabbinic movement deals with the nature of the relationships amongst rabbis and investigates the relationship between rabbis and their contemporaries that is students the community and the patriarch

Three Questions of Formative Judaism Jacob Neusner, 2021-10-01 The academic study of Judaism requires a systematic inquiry into the history literature and religion and eventually the theology as revealed in the historical documents themselves Under this premise Three Questions of Formative Judaism encounters the canonical writings of Judaism in the context of their creation at a certain time and place How something is said thus becomes as important as what is said Bringing nearly fifty years of research to bear on these fundamental questions Jacob Neusner challenges his readers to face the difficult often unasked or neglected questions about the nature background and purposes of Rabbinic Judaism and rewards them with an enriched understanding and a stronger foundation for tackling the even more elusive questions concerning the theology of formative Judaism This publication has also been published in paperback please click here for details

Pesahim ,1993 The Talmud of Babylonia ,1993 Modern Judaism and Historical Consciousness Andreas Gotzmann,Christian Wiese,2007 Written by leading authors in their respective fields this first comprehensive handbook on the relationship between modern Judaism and historical thinking contributes to a differentiated interpretation of Jewish historiography and its interaction with other academic disciplines since the Enlightenment Tractate Baba Batra ,1994 Judaism in Late Antiquity 3. Where we Stand: Issues and Debates in Ancient Judaism Alan Avery-Peck,Jacob Neusner,2015-11-02 What in Judaism a religion so concerned with social norms and public policy can we possibly mean by law That is the thoroughly fresh perspective with which this work commences It proceeds with two chapters on Second Temple Judaism and two on the special subject of the Dead Sea library Learning withers when criticism is substituted by political consensus and when other than broadly accepted viewpoints find a hearing only with difficulty if at all The editors therefore invited colleagues from the USA Europe and the State of Israel to systematically outline their views in one account and set it alongside contrary ones The several participants explain how in broad and sweeping terms they see the state of learning in their areas of special interest The volume provides first an overview followed by a systematic critical account of the fading consensus In a number of accounts the different perspectives are presented in scholarly debate Because of the willingness of contending parties to meet one another in a single frame of discourse the work is able to portray with considerable breadth the presently contending viewpoints concerning the use of Rabbinical literature for historical purposes Besides this sustained and vigorous debate precipitated by historical critical reading of the rabbinical literature other issues have attracted attention such as for example feminist interests Judaism in Late Antiquity 3. Where we Stand: Issues and Debates in Ancient Judaism Jacob Neusner,Alan Avery-Peck,2016-11-14 This collection of systematic Auseinandersetzungen articulates difference and spells out what is at issue Learning atrophies when political consensus substitutes for criticism and when other than broadly accepted viewpoints approaches and readings find a hearing only with difficulty if at all The editors therefore have invited colleagues systematically to outline their views in an Auseinandersetzung with contrary ones The several participants explain how in broad and sweeping terms they see the state of learning in their areas of special interest The editors invited leading players in the USA Europe and the State of Israel in the study of ancient Judaism both in Second Temple Times and after 70 C E The work commences with a thoroughly fresh perspective of a theoretical question what in a religion so concerned with social norms and public policy can we possibly mean by law when we speak of law in Judaism It then proceeds with two chapters on Second Temple Judaism and two on the special subject of the Dead Sea library The two papers in the present part provide an overview of matters and a systematic critical account of the fading consensus respectively The next set of papers ought to stand as the definitive account of the diverse viewpoints on a basic question of method Because of the willingness of contending parties to meet one another in a single frame of discourse the work is able to portray with considerable breadth the presently contending viewpoints concerning the use of Rabbinic literature for historical purposes Then proceed a number of other accounts of how matters look from the perspective of major participants in scholarly debate At the same time as the requirements of historical critical reading of the Rabbinic literature precipitated sustained and vigorous debate other problems have attracted attention Among these a critical issue emerges in the hermeneutics to govern the reading of the documents for the purposes of other than historical study feminist interests for example
