Brener,2000 Scientists have emphasized the innate genetically based nature of our fascination with the human face and its almost limitless expressive capacity all of which is represented in the art of the last six centuries But little attention has been paid to the anomaly of the vacuous expressions of earlier facial representations Brener attributes this change to a change in the functioning of the human brain as well as the role of cultural factors It is the evolution of both genes and culture that has resulted in a marked increase in the human ability to create and interpret facial expressions The result of this has impacted human behavior
