Accounting In Eighteenth Century Scotland:

Accounting in Eighteenth Century Scotland Michael J. Mephram, 2020-09-04 This book first published in 1988 is a study of the development of accounting in eighteenth century Scotland The investigation is organised around a survey of early Scottish accounting texts an analysis of their exposition of the Italian method of book keeping and their treatment of certain selected topics The aim is to evaluate the contribution that these Scottish accountants made to the development of a profession Accounting in Eighteenth Century Scotland M. J. Mephram, 1986 Accounting in Eighteenth Century Scotland M. J. Mephram, University of Heriot-Watt, 1986 Elite Women and Polite Society in Eighteenth-century Scotland Katharine Glover, 2011 Women are shown to have played an important and very visible role in society at the time Fashionable polite society of this period emphasised mixed gender sociability and encouraged the visible participation of elite women in a series of urban often public settings Using a variety of sources both men s and women s correspondence accounts bills memoirs and other family papers this book investigates the ways in which polite social practices and expectations influenced the experience of elite femininity in Scotland in the eighteenth century It explores women s education and upbringing their reading practices the meanings of the social spaces and activities in which they engaged and how this fed over into the realm of politics and the fashion for tourism at home and abroad It also asks how elite women used polite social spaces and practices to extend their mental horizons and to form a sense of belonging to a public at a time when Scotland was among the most intellectually vibrant societies in Europe Studies in Early Professionalism Stephen P. Walker, Thomas Alexander Lee, 1999 This text provides an in depth review of recent historical research on the emergence and maturation of institutionalized public accountancy in Scotland This research is important for understanding the profession and also provides a template for further studies of public accountancy s origins in other countries British Economic and Social History R. C. Richardson, William Henry Chaloner, 1996 An Introduction To Scottish Ethnology Alexander Fenton, Margaret A. Mackay, 2013-08-06 The publication of An Introduction to Scottish Ethnology sees the completion of the fourteen volume Scottish Life and Society series originally conceived by the eminent ethnologist Professor Alexander Fenton The series explores the many elements in Scottish history language and culture which have shaped the identity of Scotland and Scots at local regional and national level placing these in an international context Each of the thirteen volumes already published focuses on a particular theme or institution within Scottish society This introduction provides an overview of the discipline of ethnology as it has developed in Scotland and more widely the sources and methods for its study and practical guidance on the means by which it can be examined within its constituent genres based on the experience of those currently working with ethnological materials Theory and practice are presented in an accessible fashion making it an ideal companion for the student the scholar and the interested amateur alike Handbook of Accounting in Society Hendrik Vollmer, 2024-05-02 The Handbook of Accounting in Society invites readers to consider the ways in which accounting affects organizations institutions communities professions and everyday life Diverse in its reach this Handbook campaigns for the need to reconsider our understanding of what accounting is and crucially what it can become

Mastering the Niger David Lambert, 2013-11-15 In Mastering the Niger David Lambert recalls Scotsman James MacQueen 1778 1870 and his publication of A New Map of Africa in 1841 to show that Atlantic slavery as a practice of subjugation a source of wealth and a focus of political struggle was entangled with the production circulation and reception of geographical knowledge The British empire banned the slave trade in 1807 and abolished slavery itself in 1833 creating a need for a new British imperial economy Without ever setting foot on the continent MacQueen took on the task of solving the Niger problem that is to successfully map the course of the river and its tributaries and thus breathe life into his scheme for the exploration colonization and commercial exploitation of West Africa Lambert illustrates how MacQueen s geographical research began four decades before the publication of the New Map when he was managing a sugar estate on the West Indian colony of Grenada There MacQueen encountered slaves with firsthand knowledge of West Africa whose accounts would form the basis of his geographical claims Lambert examines the inspirations and foundations for MacQueen s geographical theory as well as its reception arguing that Atlantic slavery and ideas for alternatives to it helped produce geographical knowledge while geographical discourse informed the struggle over slavery

Knowledge, Information, and Business Education in the British Atlantic World, 1620-1760 Siobhan Talbott, 2025-02-10 Accurate information is essential to successful business activity The early modern period saw an increase in printed commercial information including newspapers printed exchange rates and educational texts part of the print revolution that permeated all aspects of the early modern world Rather than relying on externally produced printed works commercial agents retained agency in creating and sharing their own business and educational information which was shared in other forms and prioritised and valued over printed material This book explores the ways that merchants and other commercial agents learned about business in the early modern British Atlantic World It considers how they acquired dispersed stored and used information as well as considering their contribution to creating and shaping that information Prioritising a wide range of manuscript material held in disparate collections including merchants correspondence letter books notebooks family papers exercise books and ships logs Talbott explores the ways that knowledge information and business education was created circulated and used in the early modern British Atlantic World It offers a new perspective on the exchange of business information in a period dominated by discussions of print prioritising manuscript and oral forms of exchange In doing so it presents a more holistic account of the ways that networks of knowledge operated in early modern business centralising the creation circulation and use of business information specifically by those individuals most involved in and most affected by its production
