Managing Change in Academic Libraries Joseph

Branin, 2013-01-11 Managing Change in Academic Libraries helps academic librarians plan implement and manage changes to the fundamental structure of their organizations It shows readers that in academic libraries the two driving forces behind most change are economics and technology Declines in funding for education and in the purchasing power of libraries have made it impossible to maintain the status quo let alone realize growth in traditional information services and collection development Add to this downward trend in library economics the explosion of new information technology and its potential for radically altering communications and knowledge management and one has the ingredients for some amazing changes in libraries To help manage these many changes chapters in Managing Change in Academic Libraries approach change with a mixture of radical and rational ideas Readers learn academic librarians views on dealing with change as they read about an environmental scan which identifies both internal and external forces that are increasing the amount and scope of change in academic libraries technological change and its impact in academic libraries the academic library director s role as an agent of change how two large library systems managed to change in some very fundamental ways when faced with serious economic and political challenges difficult personnel issues faced by academic libraries as they move into new organizational structures and adopt new management styles the future of traditional reference services in light of rapid developments in computing and networking how to change bibliographic control to better serve the changing expectations and needs of user communities conducting a restructuring study and recommendations for organizational change in a large research library system Each chapter shows academic librarians how they can respond imaginatively and nimbly to economic political and technological change that envelopes their professional work life Academic librarians will refer to Managing Change in Academic Libraries again and again as a survival tool as they meet with challenging and unpredictable changes

Continuing Professional Development - Preparing for New Roles in Libraries: A Voyage of Discovery Paul Genoni, Graham Walton, 2006-05-02 Librarians and information workers the world over are faced with the constant challenge of remaining abreast of developments in their field Rapid changes in technology and workplace roles threaten to make their skills obsolete unless they undertake constant professional development This international collection presents a comprehensive overview of current continuing professional development theory and practice for those who manage and work in library and information services Papers by academics and practitioners describe numerous innovative responses to emerging continuing education and training needs including workplace learning individual learning and learning organisations The New Professional's Handbook Sheila Corral, Antony Brewerton, 1999 Newly qualified library and information staff are thrown in at the deep end in their first jobs where they are expected to function as skilled practitioners They find themselves in a world where technological developments and global competition are changing the shape and reach of information services The scale and speed of change present constant challenges to develop awareness and understanding of the wider environment in order to improve local services Their need for support in their professional development is particularly acute at this stage in their careers This easy to use manual aims to provide that support at both operational and strategic levels It is designed to help new professionals make sense of the contemporary information world and devise effective strategies for developing their skills and services It brings together a host of useful sources covering the professional and managerial aspects of information work introducing key concepts and techniques in a coherent framework and using practical examples to illustrate current organizational and service trends The book offers a global cross sectoral perspective on information resources and services covering strategy and marketing as well as day to day operations The thematic arrangement means that each chapter can be used as a self directed training module or as the basis of a session with a supervisor or mentor Packed with activities and reflection points the book encourages a critical approach through the use of questions and also offers annotated bibliographies providing quick access to relevant publications websites and organizations worldwide Readership Particularly valuable as an on the job reference source for those working towards chartered corporate membership of professional bodies this workbook also makes extremely useful reading for students and lecturers staff development officers those returning to employment after a break and established professionals in search of fresh perspectives or career development

Selected Acquisitions Columbia University. Libraries. School of Library Service Library,1983 Information Systems Christine Urquhart,Faten Hamad,Dina Tbaishat,Alison Yeoman,2017-12-21 This new book takes a holistic view of information architecture to offer information professionals a vital critical analysis of library and information service architecture with discussion of methods tools techniques and trends The editors argue that library assessment literature has primarily dealt with performance measurement and change management strategies leaving little on the ways of looking at the process architecture of library and information services and on methods for business process analysis Information Systems Process and practice aims to fill that gap with a combination of theory and supporting case studies written by an international line up of contributors This book discusses research and methods that help libraries and information services work from strategic business objectives through to the organisation of processes that support the information services offeredopens a new area of research investigation on the link between information behaviour research and information systems and architecture illustrated by case studies and projectsuses introductory sections and chapter commentary from the editors to draw the discussions together This will be essential reading for researchers in Information Science specifically in the areas of digital libraries information architecture and information systems It will also be useful for practitioners and students in these areas seeking to understand research issues and challenges and to discover how they have been handled in practice elsewhere
