Bully for Brontosaurus: Reflections in Natural History Stephen Jay Gould,2010-11-29 Provocative and delightfully discursive essays on natural history Gould is the Stan Musial of essay writing He can work himself into a corkscrew of ideas and improbable allusions paragraph after paragraph and then uncoiling hit it with such power that his fans know they are experiencing the game of essay writing at its best John Noble

Wilford New York Times Book Review Together by Accident Stephanie C. Palmer,2008-12-16 This fascinating account of the regional travel accident motif within American local color literature offers a reassessment of the cultural work done by authors writing during the Gilded Age Stephanie C Palmer shows how events like broken carriage wheels and missed trains were used by local color authors to bring together bourgeois and lower class characters thus giving readers the opportunity to see modernity coming into contact with both rural and urban life Using the works of Sarah Orne Jewett Bret Harte William Dean Howells Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and others Palmer traces the use of the regional travel accident motif and how local color writers employed it to give critiques on class society and modern life Exploring the themes of regional identity modernity and interpersonal relationships Together by Accident offers an intriguing evaluation of the innovations and inconveniences associated with life during the industrializing Gilded Age in America The Tent Camper'S Handbook

Davies,Geoffrey

L. Hudson,2024-07-15 Although Canadian history has no shortage of stories about disasters and accidents the phenomena of risk upset and misfortune have been largely overlooked by historians Disasters get their due but not so the smaller scale accident where fate is more intimate Yet such events often have a vivid afterlife in the communities where they happen and the way in which they are explained and remembered has significant social cultural and political meaning An Accidental History of Canada brings together original studies of an intriguing range of accidents stretching from the 1630s to the 1970s These include workplace domestic childhood and leisure accidents in colonial Indigenous rural and urban settings Whether arising from colonial power relations urban dangers perils in resource extraction or hazardous recreations most accidents occur within circumstances of vulnerability and reveal precarity and inequities not otherwise apparent Contributors to this volume are alert to the intersections of the settler agenda and the elevation of risk that it brings Indigenous and settler ways of understanding accidents are juxtaposed with chapters exploring the links between accidents and the rise of the modern state An Accidental History of Canada makes plain that whether they are interpreted as an intervention by providence a miscalculation an inevitability or the result of observable risk accidents and our responses to them reveal shared values
