worth reading and deserves to be studied with care Lee S Shulman President Emeritus The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Del Prete provides a richly detailed account of how a team of teachers grows and nurtures a collectively built body of knowledge and practice that enables them to achieve remarkable results year after year with students from one of the lowest income urban communities in the state If you want to know why we need to build a collaborative learning culture in schools read this book If you want to know how to do it read it again Tom Carroll President National Commission on Teaching and America's Future NCTAF Del Prete has written a book that describes what it means to prepare for and teach in an urban high school setting At the same time he masterfully weaves the contexts of policy content area and school culture into a compelling story that outlines what high quality teaching should look like Lee Teitel Harvard University Graduate School of Education

Narrowing the Achievement Gap Susan J. Paik, Herbert J. Walberg, 2007-06-04. The subject of minority children's learning has long been the concern of civic leaders, parents, scholars, and educators. The federal legislation No Child Left Behind emphasizes the concern even more. It specifically requires assessing the academic achievement of minority students, particularly in economically disadvantaged areas, and holding schools accountable for their progress. Schools that fail to attain Adequate Yearly Progress face the real possibility of being forced to close if they continually fail to perform. Unlike the past, these are increasingly high-stakes consequences for educators, parents, students, and the schools that serve them. This book is timely and relevant because it addresses these issues and recommends solutions for Latino, Black, and Asian students. This book also has implications for the problems the nation faces in helping all students to learn well, particularly those that lag in academic achievement. In considering the broad problems and in recommending solutions, the book provides breadth, concision, and unique organization. As the introductory chapter makes clear, the book simultaneously considers not only the three most visible minority groups in the U.S. but draws upon the perspectives of anthropology, education, ethnic studies, psychology, and sociology. From these several perspectives, this book is organized within three broad sections: 1. culturally diverse families and schooling, 2. issues of immigration and schooling experiences, and 3. socio-cultural perspectives on teaching, learning, and development. Within each section the authors marshal research literature regarding each ethnic minority group

Teacher Practice Online Désirée H. Pointer Mace, 2015-04-25 Teachers know how complicated their work is. They constantly balance considerations of individual students with those of the group they think about how past events affect today's lessons and they constantly adapt and revise for future lessons. But few people ever get to see teachers work in this way. The most energizing relational complicated inspiring disheartening parts of teaching remain largely invisible. Over nearly a decade at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Désirée Pointer Mace worked with dozens of teachers across the country to open their doors by creating multimedia web-based representations of teaching practice. This book describes how such multimedia representations are envisioned, documented, created, and shared, and how others might engage in this process. This practical book examines the cutting edge of electronic media documentation of teaching practice. Features cases studies that represent diverse grades, cultures, and contexts with both novice and veteran teachers. Provides clear examples of how multimedia representations of teaching can be used as alternative texts in teacher learning environments. Describes the positive outcomes for teachers and learners when teaching is made public. Includes screen images of teachers' websites as well as classrooms and children participating in projects. This book is a rare find. We not only learn from Pointer Mace's examples but also get inside what we need to know to learn the power and possibilities of making our own websites to learn from our own practice and to secure a position in the conversation about learning from one's own teaching. From the Foreword by Ann Lieberman, Senior Scholar, Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Désirée Pointer Mace is in the vanguard of a new generation of teacher educators. This volume will become a classic reference in the emergence of a new signature pedagogy for the initial preparation and professional development of teachers. Lee S. Shulman, Charles E. Ducommun Professor of Education Emeritus, Stanford University. The practices discussed in this book are at the cutting edge of current efforts to preserve and learn from the wisdom of expert teachers. This book is must reading for teacher educators at all levels of the teaching career. Ken Zeichner, Hoefs Boesch Professor of Teacher Education, University of Wisconsin-Madison. Pointer Mace creates a community of teacher scholars with an important story to tell us about their lives in the classroom. Teachers, researchers, doctoral students, parents, and yes, students will be changed by reading this book. Ricki Goldman, New York University.
