Shifting Practices Giovan Francesco Lanzara, 2016-03-18 How disruptions and discontinuities caused by the introduction of new technologies often reveal aspects of practice not previously observed What happens in an established practice or work setting when a novel artifact or tool for doing work changes the familiar work routines Any unexpected event or change or technological innovation creates a discontinuity organizations and individuals must reframe taken for granted assumptions and practices and reposition themselves To study innovation as a phenomenon then we must search for situations of discontinuity and rupture and explore them in depth In Shifting Practices Giovan Francesco Lanzara does just that and discovers that disruptions and discontinuities caused by the introduction of new technologies often reveal aspects of practice not previously observed After discussing methodological and research issues Lanzara presents two in depth studies focusing on processes of design and innovation in two different practice settings music education and criminal justice In the first he works with the music department of a major American university to develop Music LOGO a computer system that allows students to explore musical structures with simple composition like exercises and experiments In the second he works with the Italian court system in the design and use of video technology for criminal trials In both cases drawing on anecdotes and examples as well as theory and analysis he traces the new systems from design through implementation and adoption Finally Lanzara considers the researcher s role and the relationship encompassing empathy vulnerability and temporality between the reflective researcher and actors in the practice setting Living Electronic Music Professor Simon Emmerson,2013-01-28 Drawing on recent ideas that explore new environments and the changing situations of composition and performance Simon Emmerson provides a significant contribution to the study of contemporary music bridging history aesthetics and the ideas behind evolving performance practices Whether created in a studio or performed on stage how does electronic music reflect what is live and living What is it to perform live in the age of the laptop Many performer composers draw upon a library of materials but others refuse to abandon traditionally created and structured electroacoustic work Lying behind this maelstrom of activity is the perennial relationship to theory that is ideas principles and practices that somehow lie behind composers and performers actions The relationship of the body performing to the spaces around has also undergone a revolution as the source of sound production has shifted to the loudspeaker Emmerson considers these issues in the framework of our increasingly acousmatic world in which we cannot see the source of the sounds we hear
