Another Self Middle Class American Women And Their Friends In The Twentieth Century:

Another Self Linda W. Rosenzweig, 1999-08 From nineteenth century romantic friendships to childhood best friends and idealistic versions of feminist sisterhood female friendship has been seen as an essential sustaining influence on women's lives Women are thought to have a special aptitude for making and keeping friends But notions of friendship are not constant and neither are women's experiences of this fundamental form of connection In Another Self Linda W Rosenzweig sheds light on the changing nature of white middle class American women's relationships during the coming of age of modern America As the middle class domesticity of the nineteenth century waned a new emotional culture arose in the twentieth century and the intensely affectionate bonds between women of earlier decades were supplanted by new priorities autonomy careers participation in an expanding consumer culture and the expectation of fulfillment and companionship in marriage An increased emphasis on heterosexual interactions and a growing stigmatization of close same sex relationships fostered new friendship styles and patterns Drawing on a wide range of primary sources including diaries journals correspondence and popular periodicals Rosenzweig uncovers the complex and intricate links between social and cultural developments and women's personal experiences of friendship

Commercial Intimacy Richard Popp, Brenton Malin, Wendy A. Woloson, 2025-06-03 Explores how marketers have leveraged feelings of personal familiarity in modern consumer capitalism Our wired world connects us with corporations in ways that just a generation ago would have been hard to imagine Marketers track users' habits down to the swipe and scroll brand influencers reach out to followers in ever more personal ways Yet however much we may feel individually recognized or targeted by today's marketers the connections they make are in truth fleeting and tactical They are also nothing new Marketplace transactions have long been mediated by interactions that blur the line between the putatively public and rational world of commerce and the supposedly private and emotional realm of personal relations That there is an affective tenor to every sales scenario has never been a secret to talented marketers How exactly marketers have tried to set those moods by endowing commercial relationships with an aura of personal affinity is the subject of Commercial Intimacy Its chapters explore the broad theme of commercial intimacy that is market based feelings of spatial and emotional closeness in US consumer culture from the mid nineteenth century to the late twentieth century They show how experiences of intimacy have been orchestrated by marketers operating at a variety of distances from the face to face solicitations made by retail clerks and direct sales agents to the long distance appeals made by mail order merchants print and TV advertisers telemarketers and e-commerce platforms The volume pays especially close attention to how these revenue minded acts of ingratiation worked how they were shaped by the technologies behind them and how they capitalized on contemporary dynamics of gender and sexuality At the heart of this volume then is the question of how our understanding of business history changes when we take the emotional sensational and affective dynamics of intimacy to be foundational elements of commercial persuasion Contributors Samuel Backer Jennifer M Black Donna J

Friendship A History will be invaluable to students and scholars of social history Navigating Women's Friendships in American Literature and Culture Kristi Branham, Kelly L. Reames, 2022-11-10 This volume presents a collection of critical essays that center women's friendship in women's literary and artistic production Analyzing cultural portrayals of women's friendships in fiction letters and film these essays collectively suggest new models of literary interpretation that do not prioritize heterosexual romance Instead this book represents friendships as mature and meaningful relationships that contribute to identity formation and political coalition Both the supportive and competitive aspects of friendships are shown to be crucial to women's identities as individuals political citizens and artists Addressing the complexities of how 20th and 21st century cultural texts construe women's friendships as they navigate patriarchal institutions this collection advances scholarship on friendship beyond men and masculine models Girlhood in America Miriam Forman-Brunell, 2001-06-08 This groundbreaking reference work presents more than 100 articles by 98 high profile interdisciplinary scholars covering all aspects of girls' roles in American society past and present In this comprehensive readable two volume encyclopedia experts from a variety of disciplines contribute pieces to the puzzle of what it means and what it has meant over the last 400 years to be a girl in America The portrait that emerges reveals deep differences in girls' experiences depending on socioeconomic context religious and ethnic traditions family life schools institutions and the messages of consumer and popular culture Girls have been commodified idealized trivialized eroticized and shaped by the powerful forces of popular culture from Little Women to Barbie Yet girls are also powerful co-creators of the culture that shapes them often cleverly subverting it to their own purposes From Pocahontas to punk rockers girls have been an integral if overlooked and undervalued part of American culture An Emotional History of the United States Peter N. Stearns, Jan Lewis, 1998 Emotions lie at our very core as human beings How we process and grapple with our emotions how and what we emote and how we respond to the emotions of others constitute the essence of our social universe In a very real sense we exist only through the prism of our emotions And yet the profound effect of human emotion on history politics religion and culture remains underexamined While the influence of emotion in such realms as American foreign policy has been well documented other emotional aspects of American history have escaped notice What role for instance does emotion have in the practice of African American religion How do shame and self-hatred influence American conceptions of identity How does our emotional life change as we age To what degree is American consumerism driven by basic human emotion With this landmark anthology historians Peter N. Stearns and Jan Lewis provide a road map of the American emotional landscape From the emotional world of working class Massachusetts to the prayers of evangelical and pentecostal women and the gendered nature of black rage these essays provide a multicultural snapshot of the unique nature and evolution of American emotions A Cultural History of the Emotions in the Modern and Post-Modern Age Jane W. Davidson, Joy Damousi, 2020-08-20 The 20th century with revolutionary and rapid developments in travel communications and computerised technologies offered new and seemingly limitless horizons which accompanied and amplified distinctive experiences of emotions. The birth of psychology and psychiatry revealed the importance of emotional life and that individuals could have control over their behaviour. Traditional religion was challenged and alternative forms of spiritualism emerged. Creative and performing arts continued to shape understandings and experiences of emotions from realism to detachment, holistic to fragmented notions of self and society. The role of emotions in family life focused on how to deal with modern day freedom and anxiety. In the public sphere people used emotion to oppress as well as liberate. Countering threats to national security, personal and cultural identity, a range of political motivated activities emerged embracing peace, humanitarian and environmental causes. This volume surveys the means by which modern experience shaped how, why and where emotions were expressed, monitored and controlled.

A Cultural History of Marriage in the Modern Age Christina Simmons, 2021-11-18. Spanning cultures across the 20th century, this volume explores how marriage, especially in the West, was disestablished as the primary institution organizing social life. In the developing world, the economic, social and legal foundations of traditional marriage are stronger but also weakening. Marriage changed because an industrial wage economy reduced familial patriarchal control of youth and women and spurred demands and possibilities for greater autonomy and choice in love. After the Second World War, when more married women pursued education and employment and gays and lesbians gained visibility, feminism and gay liberation also challenged patriarchal and restrictive gender roles and helped to reshape marriage. In 1920, most people married for life; in the twenty-first century, fewer marry and serial monogamy prevails. Marriage is more diverse and flexible in form but also more fragile and optional than it once was. Over the century, control of courtship shifted from parents to youth and friends, as opposed to kin, became more important in sustaining marriages. Dual wage earner families replaced the male breadwinner. Social and political liberalism assailed conservative laws and religious regimes, expanding access to divorce and birth control. Although norms of masculinity and femininity retain huge power in most cultures, visions of more egalitarian and romantic love as the basis of marriage have gained traction, made appealing by the global spread of capitalist social relations and also broadcast by culture industries in the developed world. The legalization of same sex marriage in over twenty-five nations by 2020 epitomizes a century of change toward a less gender-defined ideal that includes a continued desire for social recognition and permanence. A Cultural History of Marriage in the Modern Age presents an overview of the period with essays on Courtship and Ritual, Religion, State and Law, Kinship and Social Networks, the Family, Economy, Love and Sex, the Breaking of Vows and Representations of Marriage.
