A Companion to the Archaeology of the Ancient Near East D. T. Potts, 2012-05-21 A COMPANION TO THE ARCHAEOLOGY OF THE ANCIENT NEAR EAST A Companion to the Archaeology of the Ancient Near East is a comprehensive and authoritative overview of ancient material culture from the late Pleistocene to Late Antiquity This expansive two volume work includes 58 new essays from an international community of ancient Near East scholars With coverage extending from Asia Minor the eastern Mediterranean and Egypt to the Caucasus Central Asia and the Indo Iranian borderlands the book highlights the enormous variation in cultural developments across roughly 11 000 years of human endeavor In addition to chapters devoted to specific regions and particular periods many contributors concentrate on individual industries and major themes in ancient Near Eastern archaeology ranging from metallurgy and agriculture to irrigation and fishing Controversial issues including the nature and significance of the antiquities market ethical considerations in archaeological praxis the history of the foundation of departments of antiquities and ancient attitudes towards the past make this a unique collection of studies that will be of interest to scholars students and interested readers alike

Testing the Canon of Ancient Near Eastern Art and Archaeology Amy Rebecca Gansell, Ann Shafer, 2020 This volume addresses and problematizes the formation and transformation of the ancient Near Eastern art historical and archaeological canon The canon is defined as an established list of objects monuments buildings and sites that are considered to be most representative of the ancient Near East In testing this canon this project takes stock of the current canon its origins endurance and prospects Boundaries and typologies are examined technologies of canon production are investigated and heritage perspectives on contemporary culture offer a key to the future

Archaeological Theory in Europe Ian Hodder, 2014-10-30 The 1980s witnessed exciting developments in theoretical writing in Western archaeology Where previous decades were dominated by the Anglo American perspective or New Archaeology the recent years showed the European debate grow in confidence and vitality This book published in 1991 captures this spirit of debate as contributors from a wide cross section of countries evaluate the development of the distinctly national and European characteristics of archaeology and assess future directions Contributors consider an extensive range of ideologies and viewpoints stressing the fundamentally historical emphasis and social construction of European archaeology The development of archaeological theory is traced with specific emphasis on factors which differ from country to country Ultimately it argues that the most active response to archaeology is to celebrate theory within a constantly critical mode A great insight into the development of theory

The Oxford Companion to Archaeology Neil Asher Silberman, Alexander A. Bauer, Cornelius Holtorf, Margarita Díaz-Andreu García, Emma Waterton, 2012

Africa in Europe: Antiquity into the age of global expansion Stefan Goodwin, 2009-01-01 Africa in Europe in two volumes is an interdisciplinary work about Europeans that demonstrates fluid boundaries and connections between them and Africans from antiquity until the present Written by a scholar with expertise that includes anthropology social history and international relations the subject matter of this fascinating work ranges from science to art and invites much new thinking about racism territoriality citizenship and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized

European Archaeology Abroad S.J. van der Linde, 2013-10-01 What are European archaeologists doing abroad What have they been doing there for the past three to four centuries Are they doing things differently nowadays To address these questions this book explores the scope impact and ethics of European archaeological policies and practices in the Mediterranean area the Near East sub Saharan Africa Asia and Latin America Acknowledging that international and transcultural projects have a range of different stakeholders the first part of this book aims to identify some of the values and motivations behind different European archaeologies abroad This is done by providing thorough historical overviews on a range of European countries including France Spain Germany Belgium the Netherlands and Poland But how are these values translated through socio political theoretical and administrative frameworks unto local circumstances in host countries And how are these archaeological activities received locally The second part of this book attempts to answer these questions through a range of historical and contemporary case studies in Africa in Asia in South America in the Near East and in Europe The third part of the book offers several critical reflections on European values motivations and collaboration projects as perceived by archaeological heritage professionals based in and or working in Senegal Sudan Somaliland Colombia and the Near East This collection of historical overviews contemporary case studies and critical reflections focuses on the challenging relationships between archaeological practices and policies including the requirements and wishes of archaeologists of local communities and of other stakeholders in Europe and in the host countries In addition to researchers and students this book should be of interest to practicing archaeologists heritage professionals and policy makers the world over as they seek to reach better informed decisions regarding archaeological projects and international collaboration This publication was produced in the framework of the ACE project Archaeology in Contemporary Europe Professional Practices and Public Outreach with the support of the Culture 2007 2013 programme of the European Commission

Dictionary of the Ancient Near East Piotr Bienkowski, Alan Ralph Millard, 2000 An authoritative guide to the whole of the cradle of civilization

European Archaeology as Anthropology Pam J. Crabtree, Peter Bogucki, 2017-01-25 Since the days of V Gordon Childe the study of the emergence of complex societies has been a central question in anthropological archaeology However archaeologists working in the Americanist tradition have drawn most of their models for the emergence of social complexity from research in the Middle East and Latin America Bernard Wailes was a strong advocate for the importance of later prehistoric and early medieval Europe as an alternative model of sociopolitical evolution and trained generations of American archaeologists now active in European research from the Neolithic to the Middle Ages Two centuries of excavation and research in Europe have produced one of the richest bodies of archaeological data anywhere in the world The abundant data show that technological innovations such as metallurgy appeared very early but urbanism and state formation are comparatively late developments Key transformative process such as the spread of agriculture did not happen uniformly but rather at different rates in different regions The essays in this volume celebrate the legacy of Bernard Wailes by highlighting the contribution of the European archaeological record to our understanding of the emergence of social complexity They provide case studies in how ancient Europe can inform anthropological archaeology Not only do they illuminate key research topics they also invite archaeologists working in other parts of the world to consider comparisons to ancient Europe as they construct models for cultural development for their regions Although there is a substantial corpus of literature on European prehistoric and medieval archaeology we do not know of a comparable volume that explicitly focuses on the contribution that the study of ancient Europe can make to anthropological archaeology

Africa in Europe: Antiquity into the Age of Global Exploration Stefan Goodwin, 1955-01-01

Africa in Europe in two volumes meticulously documents Europe's African presence from antiquity to the present It incorporates findings from areas of study as diverse as physical anthropology linguistics social history social theory international relations migrational studies and globalization In contrast to most other works focusing on Eurafrican relationships that largely revolve around Atlantic and trans Atlantic developments since the Age of Global Exploration this work has a much broader perspective which takes account of human evolution the history of religion Judaic studies Byzantine studies the history of Islam and Western intellectual history including social theory While the issue of racism in its variant manifestations receives thorough treatment African in Europe is also about human connections across fluid boundaries that are ancient as well as those that date to the Age of Exploration the Age of Revolution and continue until the present Hence it brings new clarity to our understanding of such processes as acculturation and assimilation while deepening our understanding of interrelationships among racism violence and social identities This work is full of new insights fresh interpretations and highly nuanced analyses relevant to our thinking about territoriality citizenship migration and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized The author moves across boundaries of time and space in ways that result in an encyclopedic work that is an integrated and programmatic whole as well as one in which each chapter is a complete module of scholarship that is self contained

Tin in Antiquity R.D. Penhallurick, 2023-04-21

Tin in Antiquity is the first comprehensive history of the early metallurgy of tin a mine of information on this rare highly prized metal so vital to the developing civilization of the Bronze Age The origins of tin have always been a mystery but the author has unearthed archaeological evidence from all over the world to trace the tinfields used before the discovery of European deposits He takes us on a fascinating voyage of discovery through the Ancient World delving into mythology and enlivening his scholarly text with quotations from the Classics and humorous anecdotes As his name suggests Roger Penhallurick's roots are deep in Cornwall formerly the world's largest tin producer and still the greatest in Europe So it is fitting that the Cornish section comprises almost half the book for the first time collecting together all the evidence for tin streaming between 2000 BC and

AD 1000 All surviving artifacts recovered from the tin workings are illustrated and put in their archaeological context The book is lavishly illustrated throughout including many rare old photos and has a full bibliography of the wealth of sources that have contributed to this work
