Beyond Conventional Wisdom In Development Policy:

Beyond Conventional Wisdom in Development Policy United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, 2004
This publication marks the 40th anniversary of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development UNCTAD by setting out a collection of case studies prepared by UNCTAD staff which discuss the organisation's analytical research and policy work to promote the international trade and economic development of developing countries. It also looks at how UNCTAD's work has evolved since its establishment in 1964 in response to changes in the world economy due to globalisation, institutional changes such as the creation of the WTO and ideological shifts in development thinking.

Beyond Conventional Wisdom in Development Policy, 2004 Forging New Conventional Wisdom Beyond International Policing Bryn Hughes, Charles T. Hunt, Jodie Curth-Bibb, 2013-01-09 Forging New Conventional Wisdom Beyond International Policing: Learning from Complex Political Realities provides an innovative perspective in the field by conceptualizing international policing as part of a much broader system of peace and capacity development initiatives. Authors Bryn Hughes, Charles T. Hunt and Jodie Curth-Bibb provide a thorough analysis of the current problems in the field and subsequently offer a convincing argument for a new post-Weberian approach. United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) Ian Taylor, Karen Smith, 2007-05-18 A much needed new examination of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development UNCTAD fully covering its history and current activities. The Oxford Handbook of International Law and Development Ruth Buchanan, Luis Eslava, Sundhya Pahuja, 2024-02-15 The Oxford Handbook of International Law and Development is a unique overview of the field of international law and development examining how normative beliefs and assumptions around development are instantiated in law and critically examining disciplinary frameworks, competing agendas, legal actors and institutions and alternative futures. Sugar and the Making of International Trade Law Michael Fakhri, 2014-11-27 Michael Fakhri uses the transnational history of sugar to tell the multilateral institutional history of trade law. Preference Erosion and Multilateral Trade Liberalization Joseph F. Francois, Bernard M. Hoekman, Miriam Manchin, 2005 Because of concern that OECD tariff reductions will translate into worsening export performance for the least developed countries, trade preferences have proven a stumbling block to developing country support for multilateral liberalization. The authors examine the actual scope for preference erosion including an econometric assessment of the actual utilization and the scope for erosion estimated by modeling full elimination of OECD tariffs and hence full most favored nation liberalization based preference erosion. Preferences are underutilized due to administrative burden estimated to be at least 4 percent on average, reducing the magnitude of erosion costs significantly. For those products where preferences are used, of value the primary negative impact follows from erosion of EU preferences. This suggests the erosion problem is primarily bilateral rather than a WTO based concern.

Constitution-Making under UN Auspices Vijayashri Sripati, 2020-01-16 In 1949 United Nations Constitutional Assistance

UNCA was conceived to promote the Western liberal constitution. This was colonial trusteeship. However, in 1960, as a step towards decolonization, the United Nations General Assembly rejected internationalized constitution making and, by extension, UNCA. All colonies acquired the right to draft their own constitutions without any international assistance. Nonetheless, in the same year, UNCA was revived and since then it has helped over 40 developing sovereign states to adopt the Western liberal constitution for the aims of building peace, preventing conflict, and promoting good governance in these independent states. This book scrutinizes UNCA and its offshoot, UN International Territorial Administration (ITA), including their historical origins and revival from 1960 to 2019. Sripathi argues that although the United Nations uses UNCA to help developing sovereign states secure debt relief, it undertakes UNCA to modernize them with a view to strengthen their supposedly weakened sovereignty. By doing so, the UN is seeking these states' adoption of a Western liberal style constitution, thus violating their right to self-determination. The book shows how UNCA sires and guides UN legislative assistance in all state sectors: security, judicial, electoral, commercial, parliamentary, public administration, and criminal. Irrespective of UNCA's benevolent motivations, such intrusive interventions impose the old forms of domination and perpetuate global inequality.

United Nations Centre on Transnational Corporations Khalil Hamdani, Lorraine Ruffing, 2015-03-24. The United Nations Centre on Transnational Corporations (UNCTC) was established in 1975 and abolished in 1992. It was an early effort by the UN to address the overlapping issues of national sovereignty, corporate responsibility, and global governance. These issues have since multiplied and deepened with globalization. This book recounts the UNCTC experience and its lessons for international organizations. This book is not only an insider perspective by two former staff but also a collective memoir of the UNCTC as an international organization that attempted with varying success to defuse the clash between corporates and states that erupted in the turbulent 1970s. This personal account of the UNCTC is a mixture of history, analysis, reflections, and critical commentaries told in different voices that penetrate the bland persona of international civil service. In this retelling, the authors seek to address misconceptions amongst the more general literature and to seek to provide accounts of both its positive and negative features. The UNCTC experience recounted in this book holds valuable lessons for international organization and will be of interest to student scholars and practitioners alike.

International Organizations and Development, 1945-1990 M. Frey, S. Kunkel, C. R. Unger, 2014-08-19. This volume explores how international organizations became involved in the making of global development policy and looks at the driving forces and dynamics behind that process, critically assessing the consequences their policies have had around the world.
