Daniels,2001-02-28 Public opinion polls consistently reveal the lack of confidence disillusionment and mistrust that citizens feel toward government Daniels and his contributors believe that the relationship between citizens and their governments can be changed by facilitating greater citizen collaboration with government particularly through local sustainable programs As the case studies show often sustainable community programs are created through grassroots movements that are initiated and managed by citizens themselves bringing them in contact with their local elected and appointed officials Unlike traditional programs that are administered by local officials on behalf of their citizens once sustainable community programs are created citizens administer their own programs in collaboration with local officials The case studies look at a variety of sustainable programs primarily in the United States that help to deal with issues such as recycling transportation microcredit site redevelopment pollution health care and hunger Creating Sustainable Community Programs is the first book on sustainable programs that is intended for an audience of public administration scholars researchers and students as well as practitioners who are searching for ways to change the relationship between citizens and their governments In-depth Studies of Recycling and Composting Programs: Suburbs and small cities Brenda Platt,1992 Future Survey Annual 1991 Michael Marien,1991-01-01 Resource Conservation and Recovery Act Amendments of 1991 United States. promote waste incinerators as safe nontoxic energy suppliers and gives detailed information on how communities can battle incineration projects that even at their best emit dangerous particles into the atmosphere many of which remain unregulated or poorly regulated An important toolkit for anyone interested in creating sustainable communities generating secure local jobs and keeping toxic alternatives at bay
