

A tall, rusted metal sculpture, possibly a tower or a stylized figure, stands in the center of the image. It is positioned in front of a dark, textured wall. The wall has the name "BEVERLY PEPPER" written on it in white, block letters. The sculpture is made of a material that has rusted to a reddish-brown color. The background is a clear blue sky. The ground in the foreground is green grass.

Biennale internazionale di scultura Città di Carrara Enrico Crispolti, Luca Massimo Barbero, 1998 Republics and empires Melissa Dabakis, Paul H. D. Kaplan, 2021-08-17 Republics and empires provides transnational perspectives on the significance of Italy to American art and visual culture and the impact of the United States on Italian art and popular culture Covering the period from the Risorgimento to the Cold War it reveals the complexity of the visual discourses that bound two relatively new nations together It also gives substantial attention to literary and critical texts that addressed the evolving cultural relationship between Italy and the United States While American art history has tended to privilege French British and German ties these chapters highlight a rich body of contemporary research by Italian and American scholars that moves beyond a discussion of influence as a one way directive towards a deeper understanding of cultural transactions that profoundly affected the artistic expression of both nations Open.
