Beyond Boundaries Cyberspace In Africa:

Beyond Boundaries Melinda Beth Robins, Robert L. Hilliard, 2002 3 Linking Africa's Women Online Journalism in Africa Hayes Mawindi Mabweazara, Okoth Fred Mudhai, Jason Whittaker, 2014-01-21 Very little is known about how African journalists are forging new ways to practise their profession on the web Against this backdrop this volume provides contextually rooted discussions of trends practices and emerging cultures of web based journalism's across the continent offering a comprehensive research tool that can both stand the test of time as well as offer researchers particularly those in the economically developed Global North models for cross cultural comparative research The essays here deploy either a wide range of evidence or adopt a case study approach to engage with contemporary developments in African online journalism This book thus makes up for the gap in cross cultural studies that seek to understand online journalism in all its complexities

Globalization and Cyberculture Kehbuma Langmia, 2016-12-20 This book argues for hybridity of Western and African cultures within cybercultural and subcultural forms of communication Kehbuma Langmia argues that when both Western and African cultures merge together through new forms of digital communication marginalized populations in Africa are able to embrace communication which could help in the socio cultural and political development of the continent On the other hand the book also engages Richard McPhail's Electronic Colonization Theory in order to demonstrate how developing areas such as Africa experience a new form of imperialistic subjugation because of electronic and digital communication Globalization and Cyberculture illustrates how new forms of communication inculcate age old traditional forms of communications into Africa's cyberculture while complicating notions of identity dependency and the digital divide gap

Media Communities Brigitte Hipfl, Theo Hug, 2006 This book analyzes the different ways in which media are being used for community building and it also critically interrogates the concept of community itself The authors do that from a variety of different perspectives ranging from e.g. fundamental philosophical questions regarding community to the role of journalism

Globalization and Language Vitality Cécile B. Vigouroux, Salikoko S. Mufwene, 2008-11-05 This book discusses the effects of globalization on languages in Africa In contrast to previous studies the contributors examine whether or not globalization is affecting African languages in the same ways and at the same rate in different countries and how local experiences of language change vary from place to place Rather than seeing English as the killer language par excellence the contributors probe ways in which languages are being used side by side to complement each other in some contexts while competing against European colonial languages in others The result is a diverse canvas of language vitality in the African context including matters of endangerment and loss through the lense of globalization in its various interpretations This book is a must read for students and researchers interested in language change and death and in the fate of European languages in the rest of the world

The Role of the Press and Communication Technology in Democratization Aje-Ori Anna Agbese, 2007-11-21 Agbese examines the role and agenda of the Nigerian press in the democratization process highlighting the grave challenges the Nigerian press faced in pushing for democratization in Nigeria

High-Tech Tots Ilene R. Berson, Michael J. Berson, 2010-05-01 Young children are coming of age surrounded by information and communication technology ICT ICT is a prominent force in their lives and working with ICT can stimulate students intellectually incite their creativity and challenge them to apply developmentally appropriate inquiry approaches that enhance their learning experiences Digital technologies also allow children to expand their physical space and access many online social environments that transcend time and space However any focus on the efficiency and effectiveness of technology applications in the early childhood years cannot overlook the potential consequences of technological development on children with regard to their social functioning interpersonal interactions and global understanding In addition to evaluating technology as a tool of instruction we must focus on educational implications and ethical issues associated with their use This book is the fifth in the Research in Global Child Advocacy Series The volume examines theoretical assumptions as well as the application of innovative strategies that optimize the interface between young children and ICT from a global perspective Despite divergent perspectives the chapter authors share a commitment to explore the immersion of ICT into the lives of young children and consider the educational value of these tools as well as the developmental appropriateness of technological affordances This volume brings together scholars and policymakers whose rich discourse delves into questions such as How do communication technologies benefit young children s social and cognitive development What standards and technical specifications are needed to effectively safeguard young children engaged with ICT How are young children introduced to ICT What are the challenges and risks for young children online What programs are effective in mediating risk What are the educational applications for ICT in early childhood Is social networking the new online playground for young children How can young children become competent users of digital technology and media How can early childhood educators and families encourage positive usage and discourage negative social consequences associated with today's technology How can ICT enhance teaching and learning for young children What ICT activities are developmentally appropriate for young children In the book there are three primary areas of emphasis a ICT as a teaching and learning tool across cultures and countries to promote the social and cognitive development of young children b research on developmentally appropriate education on cybersafety and cybercitizenship and c studies on the influence of digital technologies on young children including exposure to inappropriate content and participation in online social networks This resource offers readers a glimpse into the experience of children and the expertise of researchers and professionals who diligently work toward crafting a framework for action that reflects intercultural and cross national initiatives Given the role that electronic media plays in the lives of children as both an educational and entertainment tool understanding the physical and social contexts as well as the developmental issues is critical to programs aiming to optimize the full potential of digital tools that support and enhance the experiences of young children

Reformatting Politics Jodi Dean, Jon W.

Anderson, Geert Lovink, 2013-05-13 This book examines the ways in which new information and communication technologies ICTs are being used by civil society organizations CSOs to achieve their aims through activities and networks that cross national borders These new ICTs the internet mobile phones satellite radio and television have allowed these civil society organizations to form extensive networks linking the local and the global in new ways and to flourish internationally in ways that were not possible without them Reformatting Politics consists of four sections containing essays by some of the top scholars and activists working at the intersections of networked societies civil society organizations and information technology The book also includes a section that takes a critical look at the UN World Summit of Information Society and the role that global governance has played and will play in the use and dissemination of these new technologies Finally the contributors aim to influence this important and emerging field of inquiry by posing a set of questions and directions for future research In sum Reformatting Politics is a fresh look at the way critical network practice through the use of information technology is reformatting the terms and terrains of global politics

Enjoying the Track of Expression: An Mental Symphony within Beyond Boundaries Cyberspace In Africa

In a global consumed by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of quick transmission, the melodic splendor and psychological symphony produced by the prepared term frequently disappear in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the relentless noise and disruptions that permeate our lives.
