Beyond Relativism Roger D. Masters, 1993 Truth Beyond Relativism Gregory Baum, 1977 Beyond Reason and Tolerance Robert J. Thompson Jr., 2014-01-10 The major challenges facing higher education are often framed in terms of preparing students for life long learning Society's 21st century needs require civic minded individuals who have the intellectual and personal capabilities to constructively engage political ethnic and religious differences work effectively and live together with many different kinds of people in a more global society In this volume Robert J Thompson aims to influence the current conversation about the purposes and practices of higher education Beyond Reason and Tolerance adopts a developmental science basis to inform the transformations in undergraduate educational practices that are necessary to empower students to act globally and constructively engage difference It synthesizes current scholarship regarding the nature and development of three core capacities deemed essential A personal epistemology that reflects a sophisticated understanding of knowledge beliefs and ways of thinking empathy and the capacity to understand the mental states of others and an integrated identity that includes values commitments and a sense of agency for civic and social responsibility Beyond Reason and Tolerance argues that to foster the development of these capabilities colleges and universities must recommit to providing a formative liberal education and adopt a developmental model of undergraduate education as a process of intellectual and personal growth involving empathy as well as reasoning values as well as knowledge and identity as well as competencies Thompson focuses on emerging adulthood as an especially dynamic time of reorganization and development of the brain that both influences and is influenced by the undergraduate experience Advances in our understanding of human development and learning are synthesized with regard to the direct implications for undergraduate education practices

The Social Self in Zen and American Pragmatism Steve Odin, 1996-01-10 The thesis of this work is that in both modern Japanese philosophy and American pragmatism there has been a paradigm shift from a monological concept of self as an isolated I to a dialogical concept of the social self as an I Thou relation including a communication model of self as an individual society interaction It is also shown that for both traditions all aesthetic moral and religious values are a function of the social self arising through communicative interaction between the individual and society However at the same time this work critically examines major ideological conflicts arising between the social self theories of modern Japanese philosophy and American pragmatism with respect to such problems as individualism versus collectivism freedom versus determinism liberalism versus communitarianism and relativism versus objectivism Anxiety in the Era of Uncertainty Ali Chavoshian, Jung Eun Sophia Park, 2025-03-20 The burgeoning field of Lacan studies critiques that most discourses have been formed in dominant cultures considering the impacts of Western imperialism on the structure of non Western or postcolonial human subjects This groundbreaking work invites readers to read Jacques Lacan's Seminars in an interdisciplinary way with scholars from diverse backgrounds Readers will see a new picture of anamorphosis emerge with possible transformation

Postmodernity Andrew M. Martin, 2013-07-19 In the last decade a new conception of culture has emerged in sociology out of the ashes of modernism and post modernism that has the potential to radically change how we think about cultural objects and groups in archaeology Archaeology beyond Postmodernity re evaluates current interpretive and methodological tools and adapts them to the new position Many examples are given from Western and indigenous sciences to illustrate this different understanding of science and culture In addition several case studies demonstrate how it can be applied to interpret historic and prehistoric cultures Beyond McDonaldization Dennis Hayes, 2017-04-19 Beyond McDonaldization provides new paradox of freedom in everyday leadership practice Rikke Horup Sørensen, 2025-03-26 This thesis is an autoethnographic inquiry into the identity work of leaders working in the public sector in Denmark The research is about how degrees of freedom can be experienced when it is acknowledged that leaders are paradoxically both enabled and constrained through interdependencies with others The main puzzle is about what is involved in the processes of leaders negotiating identity when thinking about the mutual constitution of individuality and sociality This research argues that identity work within leadership is based on contradictions and ambiguities as well as how leaders simultaneously form and are formed by social rules and norms The inquiry illustrates the temporality of leadership identity It emphasizes how the human capacity to adapt to different power relations comes with either the risk of indeterminacy and a weak sense of self or with the risk of determinacy and a weak sense of the other Losing the paradoxical understanding of these interdependencies might result in either dogmatism or relativism This research provides critical insight into both positions Beyond the

Troubled Water of Shifei Lin Ma, Jaap van Brakel, 2019-05-21 In recent decades a growing concern in studies in Chinese

intellectual history is that Chinese classics have been forced into systems of classification prevalent in Western philosophy and thus imperceptibly transformed into examples that echo Western philosophy Lin Ma and Jaap van Brakel offer a methodology to counter this approach and illustrate their method by carrying out a transcultural inquiry into the complexities involved in understanding shi and fei and their cognate phrases in the Warring States texts the Zhuangzi in particular The authors discuss important features of Zhuangzi's stance with regard to language meaning knowledge doubt questioning equalizing and his well known deconstruction of the discourse in ancient China on shifei Ma and van Brakel suggest that shi and fei apply to both descriptive and prescriptive languages and do not presuppose any fact value dichotomy and thus cannot be translated as either true false or right wrong Instead shi and fei can be grasped in terms of a pre philosophical notion of fitting Ma and van Brakel also highlight Zhuangzi's idea of walking two roads as the most significant component of his stance In addition they argue that all of Zhuangzi's positive recommendations are presented in a language whose meaning is not fixed and that every stance he is committed to remains subject to fundamental questioning as a way of life
