Arcady In Australia The Evocation Of Australia In Nineteenth Century English Literature:

Arcady in Australia Coral Lansbury, 1970 This provocative book examines the vision of Australia in nineteenth century English literature The industrial revolution destroyed the myth of an idyllic rural way of life in England and writers like Charles Dickens Bulwer Lytton and Charles Reade created it anew in the improbable environment of Australia The popular image of Australia in English literature was Arcadian in turn it dominated the thought and traditions of writing in Australia The man who supplied the material for English writers was Samuel Sidney he was for a time regarded as an expert on Australia although he had never set foot in the antipodes and all his material was second hand His influence on the literature of the period and consequently on Australia has received scant attention Sidney s influence is fully examined the book also offers entirely new material on Wakefield Dickens Lytton and Reade It provides a new and challenging interpretation of literature and social history in both England and Australia

Arcady in Australia Coral Lansbury (romancière), 1970 Domesticity, Imperialism, and Emigration in the Victorian Novel Diana C. Archibald, 2002 The Cambridge History of Australian Literature Peter Pierce, 2009-09-17 Draws on scholarship from leading figures in the field and spans Australian literary history from colonial origins indigenous and migrant literatures as well as representations of Asia and the Pacific and the role of literary culture in modern Australian society

Victorian Settler Narratives Tamara S Wagner, 2015-10-06 This edited collection from a distinguished group of contributors explores a range of topics including literature as imperialist propaganda the representation of the colonies in British literature the emergence of literary culture in the colonies and the creation of new gender roles such as girl Crusoes in works of fiction

Manliness and Masculinities in Nineteenth-Century Britain John Tosh, 2017-03-02 In the space of barely fifteen years the history of masculinity has become an important dimension of social and cultural history John Tosh has been in the forefront of the field since the beginning having written A Man s Place Masculinity and the Middle Class Home in Victorian England 1999 and co edited Manful Assertions Masculinities in Britainsince 1800 1991 Here he brings together nine key articles which he has written over the past ten years These pieces document the aspirations of the first contributors to the field and the development of an agenda of key historical issues which have become central to our conceptualising of gender in history Later essays take up the issue of periodisation and the relationship of masculinity to other historical identities and structures particularly in the context of the family The last two essays published for the first time approach British imperial history in a fresh way They argue that the empire needs to be seen as a specifically male enterprise answering to masculine aspirations and insecurities This leads to illuminating insights into the nature of colonial emigration and the popular investment in empire during the era the New Imperialism Mid-Victorian Imperialists Edward

Beasley,2004-08-02 This is an empirical study of just where in Victorian culture the ideology of imperialism left clear traces of itself The well written investigations bring to life how certain men thought about the British Empire between the 1830s and 1868 George Augustus Sala and the Nineteenth-Century Periodical Press Peter Blake,2016-03-09 In his study of the journalist George Augustus Sala Peter Blake discusses the way Sala s personal style along with his innovations in form influenced the New Journalism at the end of the nineteenth century Blake places Sala at the centre of nineteenth century newspapers and periodicals and examines his prolific contributions to newspapers and periodicals in the context of contemporary debates and issues surrounding his work Sala s journalistic style Blake argues was a product of the very different mediums in which he worked whether it was the visual arts bohemian journalism novels pornographic plays or travel writing Harkening back to a time when journalism and fiction were closely connected Blake s book not only expands our understanding of one of the more prominent and interesting journalists and personalities of the nineteenth century but also sheds light on prominent nineteenth century writers and artists such as Charles Dickens Mathew Arnold William Powell Frith Henry Vizetelly and Mary Elizabeth Braddon Settler Colonialism in Victorian Literature Philip Steer,2020-01-16

A transnational study of how settler colonialism remade the Victorian novel and political economy by challenging ideas of British identity
