Journal of Agricultural Economics Research ,1991 Cultivating Minds Urs Fuhrer,2004 Cultivating Minds is a ground breaking unification of the ideas of Simmel and contemporary perspectives in cultural psychology The theoretical framework proposed is based on an integration of core philosophical sociological and psychological ideas from the intellectual traditions of pragmatism socioculturalism constructivism and transactionalism The primary focus of this work is on cultivation as a metaphor for identity formation According to this idea each and every human agent is an active producer of its own development and identity The cultivation model expands existing sociocultural perspectives by elaborating further how an individual's cultivation of the sociocultural environment is mediated through artefacts and objects a concept exemplified by the identity processes demonstrated by graffiti artists The idea of the cultured mind has profound implications not only for cultural psychology but also for theories of identity and of course development It affects the way we understand the formation of the self and in the end the growth of the person The result is a theory which captures the convergence between identity culture and development in new and far reaching ways Functionalism Revisited Jon Lang,Walter Moleski,2016-12-05 A range of current approaches to architecture are neglected in our contemporary writings on design philosophies This book argues that the model of function and the concept of a functional building that we have inherited from the twentieth century Modernists is limited in scope and detracts from a full understanding of the purposes served by the built environment It simply does not cover the range of functions that buildings can afford nor is it tied in a conceptually clear manner to our contemporary concepts of architectural theory Based on Abraham Maslow's theory of human motivations and following on from Lang's widely used text Creating Architectural Theory The Role of the Behavioral Sciences in Environmental Design Lang and Moleski here propose a new model of functionalism that responds to numerous observations on the inadequacy of current ways of thinking about functionalism in architecture and urban design Copiously illustrated the book puts forward this model and then goes on to discuss in detail each function of buildings and urban environments
