Bad Attitude The Processed World Anthology:

Bad Attitude Chris Carlsson, Mark Leger, 1990-07-17 Bad Attitude is a collection of writings and graphics from the extraordinary Processed Word magazine. Dedicated to giving voice to the benumbed foot soldiers of the information age, it contains blistering first-hand accounts of life at the bottom of the ladder in big banks, defense contractors, computer manufacturers, and food processing factories. In these pages, the service economy and the new high-tech jobs often touted in glowing terms by the mainstream media are exposed for their quotidian banality, their essential uselessness, and the catch-22 absurdity that permeates all corporate life under late capitalism. Moving at bike messenger speed between offices, Bad Attitude describes the hazards of the office computer and how to sabotage it, mutant culture in Silicon Valley, the new transiency undercutting links at work, the connections between time and money, bosses and secretaries, resistance and resignation. It provides a unique basis for new theoretical developments in the struggle for human liberation, and above all, it assures the thousands of isolated rebels mired in dead-end and deadening jobs that they are not alone. The spark of revolt can and must be nurtured until the next wave comes along.

New Working-Class Studies John Russo, Sherry Lee Linkon, 2018-08-06 We put the working class in all its varieties at the center of our work. The new working class studies is not only about the labor movement or about workers of any particular kind or workers in any particular place, even in the workplace. Instead, we ask questions about how class works for people at work, at home, and in the community. We explore how class both unites and divides working-class people, which highlights the importance of understanding how class shapes and is shaped by race, gender, ethnicity, and place. We reflect on the common interests as well as the divisions between the most commonly imagined version of the working class: industrial blue-collar workers and workers in the new economy whose work and personal lives seem at first glance to place them solidly in the middle class. From the Introduction In John Russo and Sherry Lee Linkon's book, contributors trace the origins of the new working class studies, explore how it is being developed both within and across fields, and identify key themes and issues. Historians, economists, geographers, sociologists, and scholars of literature and cultural studies introduce many and varied aspects of this emerging field. Throughout, they consider how the study of working-class life transforms traditional disciplines and stress the importance of popular and artistic representations of working-class life.

Saving Time Jenny Odell, 2024-01-02 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER The visionary author of How to Do Nothing returns to challenge the notion that time is money. Expect to feel changed by this radical way of seeing. Esquire One of the most important books I've read in my life. Ed Yong, author of An Immense World. A BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR Harper's Bazaar Esquire Chicago Public Library Electric Lit In her first book, How to Do Nothing, Jenny Odell wrote about the importance of disconnecting from the attention economy to spend time in quiet contemplation. But how can we reclaim our time? In order to answer this seemingly simple question, Odell took a deep dive into the fundamental structure of our society and found that the clock we live by was built for profit, not people. This is why our lives, even in leisure, have come to seem like a series of moments to be bought sold and processed ever more efficiently Odell shows us how our painful relationship to time is inextricably connected not only to persisting social inequities but to the climate crisis existential dread and a lethal fatalism This dazzling subversive and deeply hopeful book offers us different ways to experience time inspired by pre industrial cultures ecological cues and geological timescales that can bring within reach a more humane responsive way of living As planet bound animals we live inside shortening and lengthening days alongside gardens growing birds migrating and cliffs eroding the stretchy quality of waiting and desire the way the present may suddenly feel marbled with childhood memory the slow but sure procession of a pregnancy the time it takes to heal from injuries Odell urges us to become stewards of these different rhythms of life in which time is not reducible to standardized units and instead forms the very medium of possibility Saving Time tugs at the seams of reality as we know it the way we experience time itself and rearranges it imagining a world not centered on work the office clock or the profit motive If we can save time by imagining a life identity and source of meaning outside these things time might also save us

Electronic Media and Technoculture John Thornton Caldwell, 2000 Never before has the future been so systematically envisioned aggressively analyzed and grandly theorized as in the present rush to cyberspace and digitalization In the mid twentieth century questions about media technologies and society first emerged as scholarly hand wringing about the deleterious sweep of electronic media and information technologies in mass culture Now questions about new technologies and their social and cultural impact are no longer limited to intellectual soothsayers in the academy but are pervasive parts of day to day discourses in newspapers magazines television and film Electronic Media and Technoculture anchors contemporary discussion of the digital future within a critical tradition about the media arts society and culture The collection examines a range of phenomena from boutique cyber practices to the growing ubiquity of e commerce and the internet The essays chart a critical field in media studies providing a historical perspective on theories of new media The contributors place discussions of producing technologies in dialogue with consuming technologies new media in relation to old media and argue that digital media should not be restricted to the constraining public discourses of either the computer broadcast motion picture or internet industries The collection charts a range of theoretical positions to assist readers interested in new media and to enable them to weather the cycles of hardware obsolescence and theoretical volatility that characterize the present rush toward digital technologies Contributors include Ien Ang John Caldwell Cynthia Cockburn Helen Cunningham Hans Magnus Enzensberger Guillermo Gomez Pea Arthur Kroker Bill Nichols Andrew Ross Ellen Seiter Vivian Sobchack Allucqure Rosanne Stone Ravi Sundaram Michael A Weinstein Raymond Williams and Brian Winston John Thornton Caldwell is chair of the film and television department at the University of California at Los Angeles He is a filmmaker and media artist and author of Televisuality Style Crisis and Authority in American Television also from Rutgers University Press
