Real Emotional Logic: Film and Television Docudrama As Persuasive Practice Steven N. Lipkin, 2002 The Star-spangled Screen Bernard F. Dick, The American World War II film depicted a united America a mythic America in which the average guy the girl next door the 4 F patriot and the grieving mother were suddenly transformed into heroes and heroines warriors and goddesses The Star Spangled Screen examines the historical accuracy or lack thereof of films about the Third Reich the Resistance and major military campaigns Concerned primarily with the films of the war years it also includes discussions of such postwar movies as Battleground 1949 Attack 1956 The Bridge on the River Kwai 1957 and Patton 1970 This revised edition includes a new afterword that covers more recent films such as Sophie's Choice 1982 Biloxi Blues 1986 and Schindler's List 1993 The Star Spangled Screen makes a major contribution to popular culture by recreating an era that for all its tragedy was one of the most creative in the history of American film Rowley Edward J. Des Jardins, Doris V. Fyrberg, G. Robert Merry, 2002 As one of the earliest settlements in America Rowley was founded by Rev Ezekiel Rogers in 1639 Few towns as small in population have given more to the nation than Rowley with so many firsts making up its history from the great Puritan migration voyage across the sea that Rogers shared with the nation's first printing press to Lorenzo Bradstreet's invention of the Bradstreet Sleeper which later evolved into the Pullman sleeping car Rowley has much to offer scenes of the village and the historic town common or the Training Place where Benedict Arnold's expedition to Quebec encamped in 1775 the picturesque Glen Mills area with its 1642 stone arch bridge and the site of the first fulling mill in the colonies 1642 1643 which manufactured the first cloth made in the Western world The book displays images of country stores wagon peddlers and early gristmills and sawmills It also shows shoe manufacturing boatbuilding at its peak in 1900 farming and salt marsh haying It truly brings to life another era in American history Moving Pictures/Stopping Places David B. Clarke, Valerie Crawford Pfannhauser, Marcus A. Doel, 2009-05-16 Mobility has long been a defining feature of modern societies yet remarkably little attention has been paid to the various stopping places _hotels motels and the like_ that this mobility presupposes If the paradoxical qualities of fixed places dedicated to facilitating movement have been overlooked by a variety of commentators film makers have shown remarkable prescience and consistency in engaging with these still points around which the world is made to turn Hotels and motels play a central role in a multitude of films ranging across an immensely wide variety of genres eras and national cinemas Whereas previous film theorists have focused on the movement implied by road movies and similar genres the outstanding contributions to this volume extend the recent engagement with space and place in film studies providing a series of fascinating explorations of the cultural significance of stopping places both on screen and off Ranging from the mythical elegance of the Grand Hotel through the uncanny spaces of the Bates motel to Korean love motels the wealth of insights from a variety of theoretical perspectives that this volume delivers is set to change our understanding of the role played by stopping places in an
