Anne of Green

Gables is a 1908 novel by Canadian author Lucy Maud Montgomery. Written for all ages, it has been considered a children's novel since the mid twentieth century. It recounts the adventures of Anne Shirley, an 11 year old orphan girl who is mistakenly sent to Matthew and Marilla Cuthbert, a middle aged brother and sister who had intended to adopt a boy to help them on their farm in Prince Edward Island. The novel recounts how Anne makes her way with the Cuthberts in school and within the town. Since publication, Anne of Green Gables has sold more than 50 million copies and has been translated into 20 languages. Numerous sequels were written by Montgomery and since her death, another sequel has been published as well as an authorized prequel. The original book is taught to students around the world. It has been adapted as film, made for television movies, and animated and live action television series. Anne Shirley was played by Megan Follows in the 1985 Canadian produced movie. Plays and musicals have also been created with productions annually in Canada since 1964, of the first musical production which has toured in Canada, the United States, Europe, and Japan. Two years ago, I would have bet a bazillion dollars I would never read a girl's book. But at 71 years of age, I found myself in a house full of books, only one of which I had not read. I am terribly addicted to reading, so in desperation, I started Anne of Green Gables. It is a marvelous book with a main character I wish I could meet every day in real life. Again, to feed my addiction, I bought the Anne of Green Gables series. Each book was a delight, and I soon forgot that they were girls' books. Maud created a character we all need in our life. She turns the mundane magical and believable. Reading them all in nearly a continuous setting makes Anne wearying to quote Marilla, since unbounded child-like wonder is hard to maintain. I wish I had read these books decades ago, so Anne could have helped me through some less than happy times.
