Aquaculture Maritime:

Maritime Spatial Planning Jacek Zaucha, Kira Gee, 2018-01-01 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license

Maritime or marine spatial planning has gained increasing prominence as an integrated common sense approach to promoting sustainable maritime development. A growing number of countries are engaged in preparing and implementing maritime spatial plans; however, questions are emerging from the growing body of MSP experience. How can maritime spatial planning deal with a complex and dynamic environment such as the sea? How can MSP be embedded in multiple levels of governance across regional and national borders and how far does the environment benefit from this new approach? This open access book is the first comprehensive overview of maritime spatial planning. Situated at the intersection between theory and practice, the volume draws together several strands of interdisciplinary research reflecting on the history of MSP as well as examining current practice and looking towards the future. The authors and contributors examine MSP from disciplines as diverse as geography, urban planning, political science, natural science, sociology and education, reflecting the growing critical engagement with MSP in many academic fields. This innovative and pioneering volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of maritime spatial planning as well as planners and practitioners.

Jacek Zaucha is Professor of Economics at Gdansk University, Poland. He is long experienced in maritime spatial planning and is currently leading the team preparing the first plan for Polish waters. Kira Gee is Research Associate at the Centre for Materials and Coastal Research, Helmholtz Zentrum Geesthacht, Germany. She has been involved in MSP research and practice for over 20 years and has participated in numerous national and transnational European MSP projects.

Marine Aquaculture National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems, Marine Board, Committee on Assessment of Technology and Opportunities for Marine Aquaculture in the United States, 1992-02-01

Coastal farming and ocean ranching of marine fish, shellfish, crustaceans and seaweed are a major and growing industry worldwide. In the United States, freshwater aquaculture is rapidly becoming a significant commercial activity; however, marine aquaculture has lagged behind. This book examines the obstacles to developing marine aquaculture in the United States and offers specific recommendations for technology and policy strategies to encourage this industry. The volume provides a wealth of information on the status of marine aquaculture, including comparisons between U.S. and foreign approaches to policy and technology and of the diverse species under culture. Marine Aquaculture also describes problems of coordination of regulatory policy among various federal, state and local government agencies and escalating competition for the use of coastal waters. It addresses environmental concerns and suggests engineering and research strategies for alleviating negative impacts from marine aquaculture operations.

Building Industries at Sea - 'Blue Growth' and the New Maritime Economy Kate Johnson,Ian Masters,Gordon Dalton,2022-09-01 Throughout the world there is evidence of mounting interest in marine resources and new maritime industries to create jobs economic growth and to help in the provision of energy and food security Expanding populations insecurity of traditional sources of supply and the effects of climate change add urgency to a perceived need to address and overcome the serious challenges of working in the maritime environment Four promising areas of activity for Blue Growth have been identified at European Union policy level including Aquaculture Renewable Energy offshore wind wave and tide Seabed Mining and Blue Biotechnology Work has started to raise the technological and investment readiness levels TRLs and IRLs of these prospective industries drawing on the experience of established maritime industries such as Offshore Oil and Gas Shipping Fisheries and Tourism An accord has to be struck between policy makers and regulators on the one hand anxious to direct research and business incentives in effective and efficient directions and developers investors and businesses on the other anxious to reduce the risks of such potentially profitable but innovative investments The EU H2020 MARIBE Marine Investment for the Blue Economy funded project was designed to identify the key technical and non technical challenges facing maritime industries and to place them into the social and economic context of the coastal and ocean economy MARIBE went on to examine with companies real projects for the combination of marine industry sectors into multi use platforms MUPs The purpose of this book is to publish the detailed analysis of each prospective and established maritime business sector Sector experts working to a common template explain what these industries are how they work their prospects to create wealth and employment and where they currently stand in terms of innovation trends and their lifecycle The book goes on to describe progress with the changing regulatory and planning regimes in the European Sea Basins including the Caribbean where there are significant European interests The book includes Experienced chapter authors from a truly multidisciplinary team of sector specialisms First extensive study to compare and contrast traditional Blue Economy with Blue Growth Complementary to EU and National policies for multi use of maritime space Maritime Clusters and the Ocean Economy Peter B. Myles,2017-09-07 Over the last decade the concept of clustering has become a central idea for analyzing the competitiveness of nations industries and firms This book shows how the cluster concept can be usefully applied to the study of maritime activities Such activities including shipping shipbuilding and port and maritime services are clearly geographically concentrated in a number of maritime clusters However as the author shows these are having to compete with other uses of the coasts and oceans including capture fisheries marine aquaculture offshore energy and tourism Sound governance and planning is therefore required to manage the competing claims for ocean space The book shows how competing industries and other stakeholders can cooperate and benefit from an integrated approach to the development of maritime clusters The contribution of approaches such as integrated coastal zone management and innovations such as ocean business councils as well as coordinated networks of maritime clusters are reviewed Case studies are included from around the world including detailed examples of the development of the Nelson Mandela Bay Maritime Cluster in South Africa and from Poland in the Baltic Sea New frontiers of marine governance in the ocean decade
