Arab Industrial Integration (RLE Economy of Middle East)

Elias T. Ghantus,2020-09-10 The Arab countries are increasingly recognising their importance as a regional economic grouping Given the highly skewed distribution of natural human and financial resources the course of economic development in the Arab countries seems to be interrelated Through pooling their resources and markets these countries will not only be able to optimise investment decisions but also broaden the potential for development This book argues that economic integration is not merely a question of reducing or eliminating discriminatory measures as emphasised in previous integration attempts It calls rather for a positive action based on a regional investment strategy which coordinates production programmes to reap the benefits of specialisation and scale The book focuses on past industrialisation efforts in the Arab countries and examines the emerging patterns of industrial growth A pioneering attempt is made to identify specific industries whose economic viability can be enhanced by conceiving them on a regional basis The book concludes by framing a strategy for an integrated industrial development in the Arab region First published in 1982 Arab Industrialisation and Economic Integration Roberto Aliboni,2014-10-30 Independently commissioned by IAI the three studies comprising this book examine inter Arab industrial and economic cooperation The first chapter analyses the industrial strategies economic policies and attempts at harmonisation and cooperation of the Arab countries providing a detailed picture of the convergences and divergences the potential and the difficulties faced by the region The second chapter examines the importance of coordinating economic policies if economic integration is to be sustained and considers the implications to the world economy Lastly the third chapter examines Arab labour flows a key factor in the development of the Arab countries First published in 1979 Administration and Development in the Arab World Jamil Jreisat,Zaki R. Ghosheh,2016-03-22 This book first published in 1986 examines the literature on administration human resources and development in the Arab world It emphasizes contemporary societies and their internal dynamics the least known and most critical aspects of Arabic studies

Oil and Development in the Arab Gulf States

Walid I. Sharif,2023-10-12 Oil and Development in the Arab Gulf States 1985 brings together in one volume the manifold sources of information on the Arab Gulf region especially the impact of oil revenues on its economic political and social development It provides a balanced core of primary and secondary sources on various aspects of the economics of Arab oil between 1973 and 1983 Regional Industrial Integration E. T. Ghantus,1980 Arab Regionalism Silvia

Ferabolli,2014-09-25 Arab regionalism details and examines the power relations involved in the making of an Arab region On an empirical level this book concentrates on the drawing of topographic and ideational boundaries in the Arab region on Arab regional organizations on the functional cooperation among Arab states and institutions and on the socio cultural infrastructure that supports the Arab region making process with a strong focus on post 1990 dynamics On a theoretical level this work makes a case for the analytical autonomy of Arab regionalism as opposed to regionalism in the Middle East or in the Mediterranean and for the necessity of approaching it as an actual process instead of a failed project. The attitude of debasement and erasure towards Arab regionalism that is common place in the field of regional studies is replaced in this book for the acknowledgment that there is much more political coordination, economic cooperation and social integration in the Arab region than has previously been assumed. Providing a fresh perspective on Arab regionalism, this book will be an essential resource for scholars and researchers with an interest in Regionalism, Middle Eastern Politics and International Relations.

The Middle East and North Africa Alasdair Drysdale, 2024-10-15. This contemporary text, the first in over a decade on the region, presents the geography of the Middle East and North Africa defined as the Arab World, Israel, Turkey, Iran and Afghanistan. Thematically organized, the book's eleven chapters focus on the region's physical and climatic setting, demographic characteristics, migration patterns, religious and linguistic diversity, political map, offshore claims, oil and gas resources and subregions and states. Within this framework, Drysdale emphasizes pressing current problems: the impact of climate change in a region where some areas already suffer from extreme summer heat and aridity; the challenge of providing additional water in a region where per capita availability of freshwater is already the lowest in the world; the impact of high fertility and rapid population growth in a fragile environment where economies are often unable to absorb young workers entering the labor force; the looming prospect of an aging population; the effects of out and in migration; the diverse impact and role of Islam in daily and public life; the integrative consequences of linguistic and ethnic diversity; the evolution and imperfections of the political map; ongoing territorial and boundary disputes that often have global repercussions; external dependence on the region's prolific oil and gas resources and the extreme regional inequalities associated with their presence or absence. This timely and insightful analysis is essential reading for students of the region who need a better understanding of key regional characteristics, challenges and issues.

Economic Development in the Middle East Rodney Wilson, 2021-09-23. This new edition examines how development in the Middle East is being influenced by global economic change. This comparative textbook focuses on the region's strengths and highlights development success, especially in the Gulf, Turkey and Israel. The major structural changes in the economies of the Middle East are analysed and current employment challenges are discussed. The impact of demographic changes is considered, notably the dramatic decline in birth rates which will have implications for future employment. The contribution of banks and capital markets to the region's development is appraised, including that of Islamic financial institutions which play a prominent role in the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries but are on the margins of the financial systems elsewhere. Historically, development in the GCC was linked to oil and gas production and prices, a key issue being whether these are being decoupled as economies diversify and become more self-sustaining. The evidence on this from the GCC is encouraging, with transparent and accountable financial management and major improvements in economic governance despite the lack of democracy. Examining the drivers of economic development in the Middle East in a regional and global context this fully updated textbook is a key resource for students and academics interested in economic development and the political economy of the Middle East
