Blind Lake Robert Charles Wilson, 2025-09-23 2017 Aurora Awards Best of the Decade Finalist 2004 Hugo Award Finalist for Best Novel Robert Charles Wilson says The New York Times writes superior science fiction thrillers His Darwinia won Canada's Aurora Award his most recent novel The Chronoliths won the prestigious John W Campbell Memorial Award Now he tells a gripping tale of alien contact and human love in a mysterious but hopeful universe At Blind Lake a large federal research installation in northern Minnesota scientists are using a technology they barely understand to watch everyday life in a city of lobster like aliens upon a distant planet They can't contact the aliens in any way or understand their language All they can do is watch Then without warning a military cordon is imposed on the Blind Lake site All communication with the outside world is cut off Food and other vital supplies are delivered by remote control No one knows why The scientists nevertheless go on with their research Among them are Marguerite Hauser and the man she recently divorced Raymond Scutter They continue to work together despite the difficult conditions and the bitterness between them Ray believes their efforts are doomed that culture is arbitrary and the aliens will forever be an enigma Marguerite believes there is a commonality of sentient thought and that our failure to understand is our own ignorance not a fact of nature The behavior of the alien she has been tracking seems to be developing an elusive narrative logic and she comes to feel that the alien is somehow impossibly aware of the project's observers But her time is running out Ray is turning hostile stalking her The military cordon is tightening Understanding had better come soon At the Publisher's request this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software DRM applied
