Blue Mesa Review No 6:

Ono Ono Girl's Hula Carolyn Lei-lanilau, 1997 Seventeen years after she married Judith Strasser escaped her emotionally and physically abusive husband and sought a better way to live In the process Strasser rediscovered what she had suppressed through that long span of time exceptional strength and a passion for writing Black Eye includes excerpts from a journal Strasser kept from 1985 to 1986 the year she made the decision to leave her marriage and present day commentary on the journal passages and her family history Strasser works like a detective investigating her own life drawing clarity and power from journal passages dreams and memories that originally emerged from confusion and despair With language that is both insightful and poetic she reveals the psychological and social circumstances that led a strong woman an intelligent and politically active feminist to become an emotionally dependent abused wife Not coincidentally the same year that Strasser finally found the courage to leave her husband she also reclaimed her creative voice Newly empowered and energized by this enormous life change Strasser began writing again after twenty five silent years dominated by her mother's illness and death her own cancer and her painful fearful marriage Black Eye is one of the fruits of this creative reawakening Strasser's writing is refreshingly honest and instantly engrossing Not shy of wretchedness or beauty Strasser's story is bitterly personal ultimately triumphant and inspiring to all who deal with the adversity that is part of human life Mexican Mornings Michael Hogan, 2007-02-26 There is a part of Mexico the west central area encompassing the state of Jalisco and its capital Guadalajara which is the cradle of many significant cultural traditions that most of us associate with that great country mariachi music tequila and charreada rodeos to name a few And Jalisco is Michael Hogan's intellectual inspiration for this bird's eye view of Mexico and elsewhere Hogan writes with deep affection for his adopted country mixed with an insider's keen interest about things Mexican The inexhaustible patience and forgiveness of the Mexican character is portrayed in many of his narratives in which life is lived largely in the slow lane but with a degree of dignity and grace that might help explain why so many North Americans choose to call Mexico home Come ride with us on the Bus From Hell to see Cuban dictator Fidel Castro and laugh at the drunken Santa Claus whose sleigh is damaged at the high school Christmas party Then feel the beat of the music as the Tigres del Norte give an all night concert in Guadalajara's immense Ro Nilo stadium squint through the eyepiece of a welder's helmet during a solar eclipse and squirm with uneasiness during a depression producing six day six night rainstorm Perhaps the strongest messages of this collection are those extolling the thoughts of Mexican diplomat and poet Octavio Paz in helping understand ourselves and those of environmentalist and writer Ed Abbey who tried to show all of us of all nationalities that if we want to save this world FOR ourselves we first have to save it FROM ourselves So follow Hogan as he examines his subjects from the lowest crawling insects that influence life in Jalisco as it is today to the two legged creatures of power that would change it forever I promise you won't regret it Blue Mesa Dam and Powerplant, 1975 Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1987 2009 Novel & Short Story Writer's
