African Forms:

African Forms Marc Ginzberg, 2000 Traditional African forms were noticed described and brought back to Europe as early as the statues and masks but none of the books on the subject covers the broad geographic and stylistic range adequately or presents these beautiful objects appropriately This volume reaches into practically all of Africa and thus covers an area perhaps 50% greater than that of most books Similarly it is unique in treating a broad variety of articles household objects and weapons jewelry and textiles musical instruments and devotional items The coverage is extensive but the purpose is not to be encyclopedic rather it is to present a wide assortment of top quality utilitarian objects beautifully photographed and to give sufficient background information carefully researched but in a lively readable format to enhance the enjoyment of this material as art BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

African forms : [album] Marc Ginzberg, Lynton Gardiner, 2000 South African Perspectives on Notions and Forms of Ecumenicity Ernst M. Conradie, 2013-12-01 South African Perspectives on Notions and Forms of Ecumenicity is the second in a series of publications on the interface between ecumenical theology and social transformation in the South African context It explores the underlying tensions in the ecumenical movement from within the South African context by analysing various notions of what ecumenicity entails It includes a leading essay by Ernst Conradie and 13 responses to the theme by experts in the field The African Imagination in Music Victor Kofi Agawu, 2016 In The African Imagination in Music noted music scholar Kofi Agawu offers a fresh introduction to the vast immensely rich and diverse set of repertoires that comprise the sound worlds of Sub Saharan African music Agawu introduces readers to the basic elements of African music and to the values upon which they are built He then explores the key dimensions and resources of African music including the place of music in society musical instruments the relationship between language and music rhythm melody form harmony and finally appropriations of African music by musicians around the world Written in an accessible style The African Imagination in Music is poised to renew interest in Black African music and to engender discussion of its creative underpinnings by Africanists ethnomusicologists music theorists and musicologists from back cover African Connections Peter Mitchell, 2005-01-24 From the exodus of early modern humans to the growth of African diasporas Africa has had a long and complex relationship with the outside world More than a passive vessel manipulated by external empires the African experience has been a complex mix of internal geographic environmental sociopolitical and economic factors and regular interaction with outsiders Peter Mitchell attempts to outline these factors over the long period of modern human history to find their commonalities and development over time He examines African interconnections through Egypt and Nubia with the Near East through multiple Indian Ocean trading systems through the trans Saharan trade and through more recent incursion of Europeans The African diaspora is also explored for continuities and resistance to foreign domination Commonalities abound in the African experience as do complexities of each individual period and interrelationship

Mitchell's sweeping analysis of African connections place the continent in context of global prehistory and history. The book should be of interest not only to Africanists but to many other archaeologists, historians, geographers, linguists, social scientists and their students.

African Intimacies Neville Wallace Hoad, 2007. There have been few book length engagements with the question of sexuality in Africa let alone African homosexuality. African Intimacies simultaneously responds to the public debate on the Africanness of homosexuality and interrogates the meaningfulness of the terms sexuality and homosexuality outside Euro American discourse. Speculating on cultural practices interpreted by missionaries as sodomy and resistance to colonialism, Neville Hoad begins by analyzing the 1886 Bugandan martyrs incident, the execution of thirty men in the royal court. Then in a series of close readings he addresses questions of race, sex and globalization in the 1965 Wole Soyinka novel The Interpreters, examines the emblematic 1998 Lambeth conference of Anglican bishops, considers the imperial legacy in depictions of the HIV/AIDS crisis and reveals how South African writer Phaswane Mpe's contemporary novel Welcome to Our Hillbrow problematizes notions of African identity and cosmopolitanism. Hoad's assessment of the historical valence of homosexuality in Africa shows how the category has served a key role in a larger story, one in which sexuality has been made in line with a vision of white Western truth, limiting an understanding of intimacy that could imagine an African universalism. Neville Hoad is assistant professor of English at the University of Texas at Austin.

African Folklore Philip M. Peek, Kwesi Yankah, 2004-03-01. Written by an international team of experts, this is the first work of its kind to offer comprehensive coverage of folklore throughout the African continent. Over 300 entries provide in depth examinations of individual African countries, ethnic groups, religious practices, artistic genres and numerous other concepts related to folklore. Featuring original field photographs, a comprehensive index and thorough cross references, African Folklore: An Encyclopedia is an indispensable resource for any library's folklore or African studies collection. Also includes seven maps.

The African Imagination Abiola Irele, 2001. F. Abiola Irele is an expert on the anglophone and francophone traditions in post colonial African literature. This collection of his essays examines African literary traditions in the broad sense and places the work of individual authors in context.

African-American Proverbs in Context Anand Prahlad, 1996-07. Such sayings as "Hard times make a monkey eat red pepper when he don't care for black," "The blacker the berry, the sweeter the juice," and "Nothing ruins a duck but its bill" convey not only axiomatic impact but also profound contextual meanings. This study of African American proverbs is the first to probe deeply into these meanings and contexts. Sw. Anand Prahlad's interest in proverbs dates back to his own childhood in rural Virginia when he listened to his great grandmother's stories. Very early he began collecting sayings. In researching this book he spent five years listening for proverbs spoken in bars, clubs, churches and retirement homes, on street corners, basketball courts and public buses, at PTA meetings and bingo games. To discover the full context of a proverb, Prahlad considers four levels of meanings: grammatical, cultural, situational and symbolic. All these operate simultaneously when a proverb is spoken. Part of the artistry in using proverbs comes from the complex interplay of the dimensions of their meanings From WPA interviews with former slaves from the lyrics of blues songs from extensive field research and from expressions of protest and cultural affirmation the author reveals the myriad ways African American proverbs thrive today

Encyclopedia of African American History Leslie M. Alexander, Walter C. Rucker, 2010-02-09 A fresh compilation of essays and entries based on the latest research this work documents African American culture and political activism from the slavery era through the 20th century Encyclopedia of African American History introduces readers to the significant people events sociopolitical movements and ideas that have shaped African American life from earliest contact between African peoples and Europeans through the late 20th century This encyclopedia places the African American experience in the context of the entire African diaspora with entries organized in sections on African European contact and enslavement culture resistance and identity during enslavement political activism from the Revolutionary War to Southern emancipation political activism from Reconstruction to the modern Civil Rights movement black nationalism and urbanization and Pan Africanism and contemporary black America Based on the latest scholarship and engagingly written there is no better go to reference for exploring the history of African Americans and their distinctive impact on American society politics business literature art food clothing music language and technology
