African Francophone Writing A Critical Introduction:

African Francophone Writing Nicki Hitchcott, Laa Ibnlfassi, 1996-03-01 African Francophone Writing presents a comprehensive overview of African writing in the Francophone literary world. It explores the work of important classic and contemporary African writers from the 1950s to the present who until recently have received little critical attention. The contributors view their subjects from a diverse range of critical perspectives: historical, thematic, psychoanalytic, feminist, and post colonial, to provide a variety of theoretically sophisticated analyses of Francophone writing. A comprehensive introduction and an extensive chronological table are included. African Francophone literature is rapidly becoming a major discipline in universities in Britain and North America. This book will provide much needed critical material for students at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. Well known authors studied in this book include Chra bi Memmi and Boudjedra in the Maghreb, Semb ne Kourouma and Adiaffi in sub Saharan Africa, Begag and Cherif from the Beur community, and women writers such as Deb che Fall and B.

Francophone Afropean Literatures Nicki Hitchcott, Dominic Thomas, 2014-04-10

This volume explores the concept and possibility of a black European community by analysing the ways in which contemporary Francophone African writers articulate and interrogate their complex relationships with European society, culture, and history.

Routledge Handbook of Francophone Africa Tony Chafer, Margaret A. Majumdar, 2023-11-02 The Routledge Handbook of Francophone Africa brings together a multidisciplinary team of international experts to reflect on the history, politics, societies, and cultures of French speaking parts of Africa. Consisting of approximately 35% of Africa's territory, Francophone Africa is a shifting concept with its roots in French and Belgian colonial rule. This handbook develops and problematizes the term with thematic sections covering Colonial and post colonial ties between France and sub Saharan Africa, Belgium, Belgian colonialism and Africa, The Maghreb, African Francophones in France, Francophone African literature and film, Francophone and Anglophone Africa, Beyond national boundaries and colonial partners. The chapters demonstrate the evolution of Francophone Africa into a multi dimensional construct with both a material and an imagined reality. Materially, it defines a regional territorial space that coexists with other conceptualisations of African space and borders. Conceptually, Francophone Africa constitutes a shared linguistic and cultural space within which collective memories are shared, not least through their connection to the French imperial imagination. Overall, the Handbook demonstrates that as global power structures and relations evolve, African agency is increasingly assertive in shaping French African relations. Bringing this important debate together into a single volume, this Handbook will be an essential resource for students and scholars interested in Francophone Africa.

Francophone Literatures M. H. Offord,2001 Unique in its analysis both of literary and linguistic techniques this text draws together extracts from novels written in French by writers from Francophone areas outside Europe including North Africa Black Africa the Caribbean and North America Sembene David Murphy,2000 Sembene is one of the major figures of African literature and also one of Africa s foremost film directors This is the first study to give an overview of his work in fiction and on screen This book examines Sembene Ousmane s radical reinterpretation of African history and culture focusing on representations of the African city animism the role of women colonialism and neo colonialism The author argues that Sembene imagines alternatives to the dominant narratives of both Africa in general and Senegal in particular North America Africa World Press African Literature Jonathan P. Smithe,2002 African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa s literature is different from West Africa s which is quite different from South Africa s which has different influences on it than North Africa s Africa s literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes Globalizing the Postcolony Claire H. Griffiths,2010-12-18 Globalizing the Postcolony Contesting Discourses of Gender and Development in Francophone Africa is a study of development in the former French colonies of West Africa It takes as its starting point the international community s reporting on human and social development and gender in the developing areas which began systematically in 1990 and which has provided a framework for policy making in this field International reports suggest that the francophone African countries have been experiencing low levels of social development throughout the past two decades These levels fall dramatically when the factor of gender is introduced to the point where statistically speaking francophone African women have had less access to social development than any other population in the world This study analyzes current thinking on the challenges facing gender and development in Africa before moving on to examine the historical factors marking the gender and development profile of the francophone West African region Through an analysis of gender politics in the region from pre colonial to postcolonial times the book examines the gradual incursion of exogenous gender policies into the region throughout the 20th century The discussion concludes by arguing that despite the tendency of the international community and their colonial administrative forebears to pursue one size fits all solutions to what they identified as the main development challenges of the day the impact of standardized solutions remains subject to the unique historical and cultural context in which they are implemented Adapting formula driven policies to unique cultural contexts constitutes a major challenge for gender and development politics in the second decade of the new century Meanwhile the book coincides with the introduction of a new international development agenda in Africa articulated around issues of security and globalization While civil unrest continues to destabilize vast regions of the continent making the prospect of development bleak

Immigrant Narratives in Contemporary France Susan Ireland, Patrice J. Proulx, 2001-04-30 The first comprehensive survey of its kind in English this book examines the experience of immigration as represented by authors who moved to France from the Caribbean the Maghreb sub Saharan Africa and Asia after World War II Essays by expert contributors address the literary productions of different ethnic groups while taking into account generational differences and the effects of class and gender The focus on immigration a subject which has moved to the center of many sensitive social and political debates raises questions related to cultural hybridity identity politics border writing and the status of minority literature within the traditional literary canon all of which constitute vital areas of research in literary cultural and historical studies today Included are broad socio historical chapters on general topics related to immigration along with chapters providing detailed readings of specific texts and authors A key objective of the book is to consider the ways in which literary texts by authors of immigrant origin explore what it means to be French and how these works shape debates about French national and cultural identity The contributors discuss such issues as cultural hybridity linguistic identity and the textualization and theorization of otherness

African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar, 2016-09-23 This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years While figures such as Chinua Achebe Ben Okri and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history In the work of authors such as Mariama B. Diallo Senegal Buchi Emecheta Nigeria Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Nigeria Tsitsi Dangarembga Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson's claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson's claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson's assumptions

Embracing the Song of Phrase: An Psychological Symphony within African Francophone Writing A Critical Introduction

In some sort of consumed by screens and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous conversation, the melodic elegance and emotional symphony produced by the published word often disappear into the background, eclipsed by the constant noise and disturbances that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, situated within the pages of African Francophone Writing A Critical Introduction a stunning fictional treasure overflowing with raw feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a wonderful composer of language, that interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional trip, well unraveling the concealed melodies and profound impact resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths with this touching examination, we shall investigate the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing style, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
