African Summer:

A West African Summer Christian Cummins, 2012-10-16 Na ve young journalist Christian Cummins heads to West Africa looking for an exotic adventure Between Ghana s capital Accra and the remote mud brick villages of Mali he encounters many mishaps including passing out in taxis and being threatened with the devil but also becomes intoxicated by the unpredictability vibrancy and joyfulness of African life It s an experience that literally gets into his blood Based on a hand written diary this is a coming of age story set during a tumultuous hot summer The work is full of dramatic events in a rapidly changing country Things happened things that seemed to matter and things that left a lasting impression They are experiences that in many different ways have shaped my way of thinking and haunted my mind ever since African Ecology Clive Spinage, 2012-05-07 In view of the rapidly changing ecology of Africa this work provides benchmarks for some of the major and more neglected aspects with an accent on historical data to enable habitats to be seen in relation to their previous state forming a background reference work to understanding how the ecology of Africa has been shaped by its past Reviewing historical data wherever possible it adopts an holistic view treating man as well as animals with accent on diseases both human and animal which have been a potent force in shaping Africa s ecology a role neglected in ecological studies My African Twist Andrea Sternberg, 2012-12 There is a popular phrase used in reference to yoga One of the reasons for practicing yoga asana or posture is that a flexible body leads to a flexible mind This health and fitness book My African Twist offers a new healing look at how yoga can reshape and influence a rigid way of thinking into a supple flexible way of thinking and being even as it promotes pain management The reality is that you can meet the most toned honed and flexible practitioner of yoga asana who also happens to be very superficially focused on the body and the ego while being very stuck in repeating unhealthy patterns of behaviour Or you know a dear loving friend who can t touch her toes but devotes her life to helping others Stiffness does not denote a rigid mind Our bodies are porous vessels that carry an emotional subtle body as well as the physical form that we see The goal of practicing yoga asana is not to do what perfect seemingly fabulous people can do The point is to work with your very specific body structure and shape in order to learn all about your own body and self The goal is to be able to look in the mirror and say I love you you are trying and you are perfect You are one with the universe and our beautiful planet African Mathematics Abdul Karim Bangura, 2012 This is the first comprehensive text on African Mathematics that can be used to address some of the problematic issues in this area These issues include attitudes curriculum development educational change academic achievement standardized and other tests performance factors student characteristics cross cultural differences and studies literacy native speakers social class and differences equal education teaching methods knowledge level educational guidelines and policies transitional schools comparative education other subjects such as physics and social studies surveys talent educational research teacher education and qualifications academic standards teacher effectiveness lesson plans and modules teacher characteristics instructional materials program effectiveness program evaluation African culture African history Black studies class activities educational games number systems cognitive ability foreign influence and fundamental concepts What unifies the chapters in this book can appear rather banal but many mathematical insights are so obvious and so fundamental that they are difficult to absorb appreciate and express with fresh clarity Some of the more basic insights are isolated by accounts of investigators who have earned their contemporaries respect Winner of the 2012 Cecil B Currey Book Award The Biodiversity of African Plants Xander van der Maesen,J.M. van Medenbach de Rooy,2012-12-06 Proceedings of the XIVth AETFAT Congress 22-27 August 1994 Wageningen the Netherlands African Youth Cultures in a Globalized World Paul Ugor, Lord Mawuko-Yevugah,2016-03-09 All over the world there is growing concern about the ramifications of globalization late modernity and general global social and economic restructuring on the lives and futures of young people Bringing together a wide body of research to reflect on youth responses to social change in Africa this volume shows that while young people in the region face extraordinary social challenges in their everyday lives they also continue to devise unique ways to reinvent their difficult circumstances and prosper in the midst of seismic global and local social changes Contributors from Africa and around the world cover a wide range of topics on African youth cultures exploring the lives of young people not necessarily as victims but as active social players in the face of a shifting late modernist civilization With empirical cases and varied theoretical approaches the book offers a timely scholarly contribution to debates around globalization and its implications and impacts for Africa's youth South African London Andrea Thorpe,2021-11-30 This book presents a long ranging and in depth study of South African writing set in London during the apartheid years and beyond Since London served as an important site of South African exile and emigration particularly during the second half of the twentieth century the city shaped the history of South African letters in meaningful and material ways Being in London allowed South African writers to engage with their own expectations of Englishness and to rethink their South African identities The book presents a range of diverse and fascinating responses by South African writers that provide nuanced perspectives on exile global racism and modernity Writers studied include Peter Abrahams Dan Jacobson Noni Jabavu Todd Matshikiza Arthur Nortje Lauretta Ngcobo J M Coetzee Justin Cartwright and Ishtiyag Shukri South African London offers an original and multi faceted take on both London writing and South African twentieth century literature African Spirits Speak Nicky Arden,1999-02-01 The moving story of an expatriate coming to terms with her country's history and her joyous spiritual and emotional rebirth as an African healer One of the first accounts of the mysterious sangomas the healers of South Africa's black population A mystical journey that will appeal to those wishing to reunite with their roots and a more spiritual life Set against the stirring backdrop of a crumbling apartheid regime African Spirits Speak is the lyrical account of white South African Nicky Arden's journey into the world of the sangomas the diviners doctors psychologists and priests of South Africa's black population While in her early twenties Nicky fled South Africa with her husband as the stranglehold of apartheid tightened on her native land For twenty two years they lived in California as expatriates never once returning to their homeland until a deep depression followed by a spiritual awakening in the California desert compelled Nicky to return to South Africa During her visit while exploring deep in the bush she unexpectedly met an old black medicine woman a sangoma This meeting would change her life Few white South Africans are even aware of the world of the sangomas but this prophetic old woman saw in Nicky the spirit of a fellow healer and set the author on a mystical journey that would reunite her soul with its African roots Thus began her astonishing and complex initiation into a nearly unknown world and her quest to discover the truth about herself and her heritage

Southern African Landscapes and Environmental Change Peter J. Holmes, John Boardman, 2018-07-04 This volume provides a textbook and reference work on the physical and biotic landscapes of Southern Africa It examines the links between these environments and the ways in which they have been and will likely be subject to change It covers the geomorphology soils vegetation and land use across a range of landscapes including mountains coasts savannah drylands and wetlands and identifies the impacts of current and potential climate change and other factors on these environments The geographical focus is on the region defined by Namibia South Africa Botswana Mozambique Zimbabwe Lesotho and Swaziland Illustrated throughout in full colour the book will serve as a reference volume for researchers and environmental professionals internationally as well as a textbook for senior undergraduate and graduate level students of geography ecology and environmental studies in Southern Africa

African Climate and Climate Change Charles J. R. Williams, Dominic R. Kniveton, 2011-02-11 Compared to many other regions of the world Africa is particularly vulnerable to the effects of climate change and variability Widespread poverty an extensive disease burden and pockets of political instability across the continent has resulted in a low resilience and limited adaptative capacity of African society to climate related shocks and stresses To compound this vulnerability there remains large knowledge gaps on African climate manifestations of future climate change and variability for the region and the associated problems of climate change impacts Research on the subject of African climate change requires an interdisciplinary approach linking studies of environmental political and socio economic spheres In this book we use different case studies on climate change and variability in Africa to illustrate different approaches to the study of climate change in Africa from across the spectrum of physical social and political sciences In doing so we attempt to highlight a toolbox of methodologies along with their limitations and advantages that may be used to further the understanding of the impacts of climate change in Africa and thus help form the basis for strategies to negate the negative implications of climate change on society
