African Settings in Contemporary American Novels Dave Kuhne, 1999-05-30 Africa has long captured the Western imagination as a land shrouded in danger and mystery British and American novels written before World War II established popular conventions and stereotypes about Africa that have been increasingly challenged by contemporary American novels set in Africa Kuhne s book overviews the ways in which Africa has been employed as a powerful setting for American novels written since World War II Kuhne argues that contemporary American novels with African settings are largely didactic that these novels convey specific lessons about Africa and Africans and that they compare African and American cultures in order to evaluate and critique the two worlds The book begins by summarizing the conventions and themes Westerners have traditionally associated with Africa and by detailing how British and American authors from Aphra Behn to Ernest Hemingway depicted Africa before World War II It then looks at contemporary American novels set in invented African nations novels that typically suggest that the problems that trouble actual African nations are the result of colonialism A separate chapter then examines the African novels of African Americans which generally aim to correct the historical record refute stereotypes and detail the horrors of the slave trade The volume also looks at genre fiction set in Africa while a final chapter discusses postcolonial novels with African settings

African American Autobiography and the Quest for Freedom Roland L. Williams Jr., 2000-01-30 Slave narratives were one of the earliest forms of African American writing These works autobiographical in nature later fostered other pieces of African American autobiography Since the rise of Black Studies in the late 1960s leading critics have constructed black lives and letters as antitheses of the ways and writings of mainstream American culture According to such thinking black writing stems from a set of experiences very different from the world of whites and black autobiography must therefore differ radically from heroic white American tales But in pointing to differences between black and white autobiographical works these critics have overlooked the similarities This volume argues that the African American autobiography is a continuation of the epic tradition much as the prose narratives of voyage by white Americans in the nineteenth century likewise represent the evolution of the epic genre The book makes clear that the writers of black autobiography have shared and shaped American culture and that their works are very much a part of American literature An introductory essay provides a theoretical framework for the chapters that follow It discusses the origins of African American autobiography and the larger themes of the epic tradition that are common to the works of both black and white authors The book then pairs representative African American autobiographies with similar works by white writers Thus the volume matches Olaudah Equiano's slave narrative with The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin the Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass An American Slave with Richard Henry Dana's Two Years Before the Mast and Harriet Jacobs' Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl with Fanny Fern's Ruth Hall The study indicates that these various works all recognize the importance of learning as a means for attaining freedom The final chapter provides a broad survey of the African American autobiography

Post-Apartheid Gothic Mélanie Joseph-Vilain, 2021-03-19 Post Apartheid Gothic White South African Writers and Space analyzes the representation of space in recent works by South African writers By combining analytical tools borrowed from Gothic studies with geocritical and postcolonial approaches M lanie Joseph Vilain assesses the literary mechanisms utilized by Damon Galgut Henrietta Rose Innes Lauren Beukes Justin Carwright and Lynn Freed to negotiate the complexities of post apartheid identities in their fiction Joseph Vilain argues that the literary representations of emblematic places real or imagined the home the farm the city or the non places of dystopia express and reveal anxieties linked to the sharing of space in post apartheid South Africa The text successively re visits the places that have been shaping South African white writing since Olive Schreiner s African Farm in other words its topoi both in the etymological sense of place and in the literary sense of recurring themes or arguments Joseph Vilain argues that these Gothicized topoi have provided writers with tools to explore the deep anxieties generated by the redefinition of South African society as the Rainbow Nation While focusing specifically on the South African avatars of the Gothic and their interaction with local forms and genres like the plaasroman the text also discusses the impact of globalization on South African literary cultural social and political identities
