Denzin, 2017-09-04 To what extent have Hollywood feature films shaped the meanings that Americans attach to alcoholics their families and the alcoholic condition To what extent has the mass culture of the movie industry itself been conceptually shaped by a broad external societal discourse Norman Denzin brings to his life long study of alcoholism a searching interest in how cultural texts signify and lend themselves to interpretation within a social nexus Both historical and diachronic in his approach Denzin identifies five periods in the alcoholism films made between 1932 and the end of the 1980s and offers a detailed critical reading of thirty seven films produced during these six decades First Films of the Holocaust Jeremy Hicks, 2019-12-03 Most early Western perceptions of the Holocaust were based on newsreels filmed during the Allied liberation of Germany in 1945 Little however was reported of the initial wave of material from Soviet filmmakers who were in fact the first to document these horrors In First Films of the Holocaust Jeremy Hicks presents a pioneering study of Soviet contributions to the growing public awareness of the horrors of Nazi rule Even before the war the Soviet film Professor Mamlock which premiered in the United States in 1938 and coincided with the Kristallnacht pogrom helped reinforce anti Nazi sentiment Yet Soviet films were often dismissed or even banned in the West as Communist propaganda Ironically in the brief 1939 1941 period of Nazi and Soviet alliance such films were also banned in the Soviet Union only to be reclaimed after the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union in 1941 and suppressed yet again during the Cold War Jeremy Hicks recovers much of the major film work in Soviet depictions of the Holocaust and views them within their political context both locally and internationally Overwhelmingly wartime films were skewed to depict Soviet resistance Red funerals and calls for vengeance rather than the singling out of Jewish victims by the Nazis Almost no personal testimony of victims or synchronous sound was recorded furthering the disconnection of the viewer to the victims Hicks examines correspondence scripts reviews and compares edited with unedited film to unearth the deliberately hidden Jewish aspects of Soviet depictions of the German invasion and occupation To Hicks it s in the silences gaps and ellipses that the films speak most clearly Additionally he details the reasons why Soviet Holocaust films have been subsequently erased from collective memory in the West and the Soviet Union their graphic horror their use as propaganda tools and the postwar rise of the Red Scare in the United States and anti Semitic campaigns in the Soviet Union
