Ageing In Africa Sociolinguistic And Anthropological Approaches:

Ageing in Africa Koen Stroeken, 2017-10-24 African gerontology has expanded dramatically as a discipline with population ageing and its consequences for societies and for individual experiences of ageing becoming prominent issues all over the continent. This volume therefore brings together some of the most prolific and skilful researchers working on ageing in Africa today. The book is based on sociolinguistic and anthropological research conducted in different regions of Southern Africa, West and East Africa, and in different types of communities: rural, urban, and nomadic. Hence the book is able to adopt a pan-African slant to issues about ageing. The data and their interpretation are characterized by the richness, typicity, and authenticity of both narratives and ethnographical fieldwork. Because the authors aim to present insider views and experiences of ageing in Africa from these diverse contexts, the book is able to distil common and variable aspects of ageing in Africa. These permit a formulation of critical models of ageing which are sensitive to the elderly person's experience and to the dynamics of the historical contexts in which they are sensitive to the elderly person's experience and to the dynamics of the historical contexts in which elderly persons have lived. Critical models of ageing appear to shed a new light on the social change that affects all of us today, e.g. post-apartheid, post-colonialism. The volume includes an introduction to the study of ageing which proposes a conceptual apparatus that is transdisciplinary and cross-cultural. It also includes a concluding chapter sketching future directions of research and policy. The volume is divided into three sections: 1. Narratives and the construction of elderliness; 2. Cross-cultural perspectives on ageing and seniority; and 3. Crises and strategies of elderhood. The contributions employ a number of methodological approaches ranging from discursive and literary analyses to anthropological studies. The chapters in Ageing in Sub-Saharan Africa Jaco Hoffman, Katrien Pype, 2018-01-24 A collection of in-depth ethnographic analyses of the impact of local and global transformations on the care or lack of received by older people in sub-Saharan Africa. The International Handbook on Aging Erdman P. Palmore, Frank Whittington, Suzanne Kunkel, 2009-10-27 The United Nations World Assembly on Aging has made advancing health and well-being into old age a worldwide call for action. And this text at hand shows us what researchers worldwide are doing to answer that call. Here three of America's most esteemed experts on aging lead a global team of contributors, each an expert in his or her country, to show us what the top challenges of each nation are and what top research is being done there to meet those. While we cannot predict with absolute certainty all of the issues that will arise over the next 20 years, we can anticipate some and we must start now to prepare for these challenges. An expert from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services warned at a recent UN World Assembly on Aging: Needed response to the global population shift is not just the responsibility of governments but will be a product of wise long-term decisions made by individuals and societies, she explained. In most nations globally, populations are graying, and the number of people aged 65 and older is vastly increasing, creating a larger segment of senior citizens than the world has ever before seen. Across human history, the elderly accounted for no more than

3 percent of the world population By the year 2030 the elderly are expected to make up about 25 percent of the world population And while longevity is of course seen as a great success longer lifespan for such masses also creates dilemmas For example the incidence of dementia has already increased significantly with an 11 fold increase in people aged 65 and older in the US since the turn of the century and a similar increase in aged people in Scotland has researchers there scrambling to find treatments for what they expect will be a 75 percent increase in dementia over the next 25 years Chronic diseases that come with aging are already taxing health care systems in the US and around the world to Japan with most experts aware their current health systems would be overrun and lack enough staff and facilities to handle the needs of an elderly population multiplying largely in the coming two decades Increases in psychological issues such as dealing with the depression often striking aged people are impending too as are social issues such as how families and public policies will deal with the changing shape of the family

AGEING SOCIETIES Sarah Harper, 2014-05-01 Demographic ageing is a reality within 25 years half the population of Western Europe will be over 50 one quarter over 65 and the Less Developed Countries will contain one billion elderly people Ageing Societies examines the myths challenges and opportunities behind these figures Ageing Societies explores three areas the growing necessity for extending economic activity into later life and the implications of societal ageing for the intergenerational contract and the provision of social security the changes in modern families and the implications the changes have for the provision of support and care for the ageing population the biggest demographic challenge of all ageing in the Less Developed Countries where there is little or no infrastructure to provide long term care or social security Combining bio demography sociology economics and development studies Ageing Societies highlights the opportunities of an ageing population for a mature society Age integrated and flexible workforces increased labour mobility intergenerational integration age equality and politically stable age integrated societies are the potential benefits of a demography which will be with us for the majority of this century

Ageing and the Visitor Economy Stephen J. Page, Joanne Connell, 2022-03-29 This significant volume is the first to use primary research evidence to examine tourism ageing and the implications of an ageing population for the visitor economy Adopting a multidisciplinary approach this book offers insights into the new opportunities threats and challenges that the growing ageing tourism markets poses The ageing population has created a demographic time bomb with a population structure that is skewed towards a growing proportion of older people When this is combined with the impact of health conditions such as dementia the future shape of visitor demand and tourism behaviour is likely to change and face many new challenges albeit at different rates in time and space Chapters include cutting edge insights into future issues while interviews are used to illustrate and explain issues affecting ageing and tourism creating a much needed synthesis of the ageing tourism nexus to demonstrate intellectual leadership around this theme This book will be of great interest to all upper level students academics and researchers in the fields of tourism hospitality leisure studies and health and social care
