Hannah Dudley-Shotwell, 2020-03-13 Winner of the 2021 Frances Richardson Keller Sierra Prize from the Western Association of Women Historians WAWH Revolutionizing Women's Healthcare is the story of a feminist experiment the self help movement This movement arose out of women's frustration anger and fear for their health Tired of visiting doctors who saw them as silly little girls suffering shame when they asked for birth control seeking abortions in back alleys and holding little control over their own reproductive lives women took action Feminists created self help groups where they examined each other's bodies and read medical literature They founded and ran clinics wrote books made movies undertook nationwide tours and raided and picketed offending medical institutions Some performed their own abortions Others swore off pharmaceuticals during menopause Lesbian women found at home ways to get pregnant Black women used self help to talk about how systemic racism affected their health Hannah Dudley Shotwell engagingly chronicles these stories and more to showcase the creative ways women came together to do for themselves what the mainstream healthcare system refused to do

Deep Care Angela Hume, 2023-11-14 The story of the radical feminist networks who worked outside the law to defend abortion Starting in the 1970s small groups of feminist activists met regularly to study anatomy practice pelvic exams on each other and learn how to safely perform a procedure known as menstrual extraction which can empty the contents of the uterus in case of pregnancy using equipment that can be easily bought and assembled at home This self help movement grew into a robust national and international collaboration of activists and health workers determined to ensure access to reproductive healthcare including abortion at all costs to the point of learning how to do the necessary steps themselves Even after abortion was legalized in 1973 with Roe v Wade activists continued meeting studying and teaching these skills reshaping their strategies alongside decades of changing legal medical and cultural landscapes such as the legislative war against abortion rights the AIDS epidemic and the rise of anti abortion domestic terrorism in the 1980s and 90s The movement's drive to keep abortion accessible led to the first clinic defense mobilizations against anti abortion extremists trying to force providers to close their doors From the self help movement sprang a constellation of licensed feminist healthcare clinics community programs to promote reproductive health even the nation's first known donor sperm bank all while fighting the oppression of racism poverty and gender violence Deep Care follows generations of activists and clinicians who orbited the Women's Choice clinic in Oakland from the early 1970s until 2010 as they worked underground and above ground in small cells and broad coalitions and across political movements with grit conviction and allegiances of great trust to do what they believed needed to be done despite the law when required Grounded in interviews of activists sharing details of their work for the first time Angela Hume retells three decades of this critical if under recognized story of the radical edge of the abortion movement These lessons are more pertinent than ever following the Supreme Court's 2022 Dobbs v Jackson decision and the devastation to abortion access nationwide
