

Correspondence Theory

- The dominant theory, especially popular with empiricists
- Correspondence Theory proposes that a proposition is true if it corresponds to the facts
 - Example: "The apple is sitting on the table" can be true only if the apple is in fact sitting on the table.
- Often traced back to Thomas Aquinas' version: "A judgment is said to be true when it conforms to the external reality" (Summa Theologiae, Q. 16)
 - Also leaves room for the idea that "true" may be applied to people (a "true friend") as well as to thoughts
- Two main versions of Correspondence Theory: object-based, and fact-based (currently prominent)
