Magnetic Los Angeles Greg Hise,1999-08-20 Suburban development is often considered synonymous with enhanced personal mobility single family housing and life cycle homogeneity According to this view individual suburbs are residence only enclaves isolated commuter sheds for a managerial and mercantile elite Magnetic Los Angeles challenges this common vision of the expanding twentieth century city as the sprawling product of dispersion without planning lacking any discernable order

An American Urban Residential Landscape, 1890-1920 , The Syntax of City Space Mark David Major,2018-03-14 Many people see American cities as a radical departure in the history of town planning because of their planned nature based on the geometrical division of the land However other cities of the world also began as planned towns with geometric layouts so American cities are not unique Why did the regular grid come to so pervasively characterize

American urbanism Are American cities really so different The Syntax of City Space American Urban Grids by Mark David Major with Foreword by Ruth Conroy Dalton co editor of Take One Building answers these questions and much more by exploring the urban morphology of American cities It argues American cities do represent a radical departure in the history of town planning while simultaneously still being subject to the same processes linking the street network and function found in other types of cities around the world A historical preference for regularity in town planning had a profound influence on American urbanism which endures to this day The Cinematic City David Clarke, 2005-08-19 The Cinematic City offers an innovative and thought provoking insight into cityscape and screenscape and their inter connection Illustrated throughout with movie stills a diverse selection of films from Blade Runner to Little Caesar genres cities and historical periods are examined by leading names in the field The key dimensions of film and urban theory are introduced before detailed analysis of the various cinematic forms which relate most significantly to the city From early cinema and documentary film to film noir New Wave and postmodern cinema the contributors provide a wealth of empirical material and illustration whilst drawing on the theoretical insights of contemporary feminism Benjamin Baudrillard Foucault Lacan and others The Cinematic City shows how the city has been undeniably shaped by the cinematic form and how cinema owes much of its nature to the historical development of urban space Engaging with current theoretical debates this is a book that is set to change the way in which we think about both the nature of the city and film Contributors Giuliana Bruno Iain Chambers Marcus Doel David Clarke Anthony Easthope Elisabeth Mahoney Will Straw Stephen Ward John Gold James Hay Rob Lapsley Frank Krutnik
