Henri Cartier-Bresson Clément Chéroux, 2014 This is an indispensable work for lovers of photography and admirers of Henri Cartier Bresson whose influence continues to endure so powerfully today In addition to some of his best known photographs here are many seldom seen or unpublished images and some rarities in colour as well as black and white This is an indispensable work for lovers of photography and admirers of Henri Cartier Bresson whose influence continues to endure so powerfully today His work embraced art politics revolution and war But more powerful than any of these overarching themes was his evident concern for the human individual at every social level Cartier Bresson s observations of the effects of poverty and revolution around the world led directly to his pioneering photojournalism and his co founding of Magnum Photos He also became renowned for his penetrating portraits of the most prominent figures of his time Cartier Bresson s biographer Pierre Assouline called him the eye of the century A must for lovers of photography The Mail on Sunday Der

E O Hoppes Amerika Colin Westerbeck, 2007-08-28 Once locked away in European archives these early modernist photographs of America rival those of Steichen and Evans Emil Otto Hopp was born in Munich in 1878 but lived in London from 1900 until his death in 1972 He was an early and important modernist whose seminal views of the United States in the 1920s rival those of his peers Paul Strand Edward Steichen Alfred Stieglitz and Walker Evans His work shows us an America as only an outsider could brave new and grand in scale but with a hint of trouble brewing in the gaps between its multicultural and economic diversities Much of Hopp s work was locked away in English and German archives for the second half of the twentieth century resulting in an eclipse of his reputation Only recently has his work been reassembled and now we can see his intimate and intelligent view of the world at defining moments in its history
