A Computer Perspective Charles Eames, Ray Eames, 1990 A Computer Perspective Glen Fleck, 1973 Hyper/Text/Theory George P. Landow, 1994-12-05 In his widely acclaimed book Hypertext George P. Landow described a radically new information technology and its relationship to the work of such literary theorists as Jacques Derrida and Roland Barthes Now Landow has brought together a distinguished group of authorities to explore more fully the implications of hypertextual reading for contemporary literary theory Among the contributors Charles Ess uses the work of Jürgen Habermas and the Frankfurt School to examine hypertext's potential for true democratization Stuart Moulthrop turns to Deleuze and Guattari as a point of departure for a study of the relation of hypertext and political power Espen Aarseth places hypertext within a framework created by other forms of electronic textuality David Kolb explores what hypertext implies for philosophy and philosophical discourse Jane Yellowlees Douglas Gunnar Liestol and Mireille Rosello use contemporary theory to come to terms with hypertext narrative Terrence Harpold investigates the hypertextual fiction of Michael Joyce Drawing on Derrida Lacan and Wittgenstein Gregory Ulmer offers an example of the new form of writing hypertextuality demands

The Language of New Media Lev Manovich, 2002-02-22 A stimulating eclectic account of new media that finds its origins in old media particularly the cinema In this book Lev Manovich offers the first systematic and rigorous theory of new media He places new media within the histories of visual and media cultures of the last few centuries He discusses new media's reliance on conventions of old media such as the rectangular frame and mobile camera and shows how new media works create the illusion of reality address the viewer and represent space He also analyzes categories and forms unique to new media such as interface and database Manovich uses concepts from film theory art history literary theory and computer science and also develops new theoretical constructs such as cultural interface spatial montage and cinegratography The theory and history of cinema play a particularly important role in the book Among other topics Manovich discusses parallels between the histories of cinema and of new media digital cinema screen and montage in cinema and in new media and historical ties between avant garde film and new media

Introduction To Computers Rajmohan Joshi, 2006-04 A computer is a machine designed for manipulating data according to a list of instructions known as a programme Computers are versatile In fact they are universal information processing machines Due to technological advancement modern electronic computers are exponentially more capable than those of preceding generations Today computers are at the centre of thousands upon thousands of other inventions They are the heartbeats of the modern world Computers are everywhere from kitchens to concrete mixers from planes to pockets They listen They speak They act Never in world history has one invention had such an influence on humanity age there would be no global awareness Today computers are being used in every walk of life and this book is useful to anyone who wishes to learn computers The First chapter traces the history of computers The rest of the book covers fundamental aspects such hardware software and other applications associated with computers

The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg, 2009-02-13 From the Renaissance idea of the painting as an open window to the nested windows and multiple images on today s cinema television and computer screens a cultural history of the metaphoric literal and virtual window As we spend more and more of our time staring at the screens of movies televisions computers and handheld devices windows full of moving images texts and icons how the world is framed has become as important as what is in the frame In The Virtual Window Anne Friedberg examines the window as metaphor as architectural component and as an opening to the dematerialized reality we see on the screen In De pictura 1435 Leon Battista Alberti famously instructed painters to consider the frame of the painting as an open window Taking Alberti s metaphor as her starting point Friedberg tracks shifts in the perspectival paradigm as she gives us histories of the architectural window developments in glass and transparency and the emerging apparatuses of photography cinema television and digital imaging Single point perspective Alberti s metaphorical window has long been challenged by modern painting modern architecture and moving image technologies And yet notes Friedberg for most of the twentieth century the dominant form of the moving image was a single image in a single frame The fractured modernism exemplified by cubist painting for example remained largely confined to experimental avant garde work On the computer screen however where multiple windows coexist and overlap perspective may have met its end In this wide ranging book Friedberg considers such topics as the framed view of the camera obscura Le Corbusier s mandates for the architectural window Eisenstein s opinions on the shape of the movie screen and the multiple images and nested windows commonly displayed on screens today The Virtual Window proposes a new logic of visuality framed and virtual an architecture not only of space but of time

Roberto Busa, S. J., and the Emergence of Humanities Computing Steven E. Jones, 2016-03-31 It s the founding myth of humanities computing and digital humanities In 1949 the Italian Jesuit scholar Roberto Busa S J persuaded IBM to offer technical and financial support for the mechanized creation of a massive lemmatized concordance to the works of St Thomas Aquinas Using Busa s own papers recently accessioned in Milan as well as IBM archives and other sources Jones illuminates this DH origin story He examines relationships between the layers of hardware software human agents culture and history and answers the question of how specific technologies afford and even constrain cultural practices including in this case the academic research agendas of humanities computing and later digital humanities

Communication in History Peter Urquhart, Paul Heyer, 2018-09-03 Now in its 7th edition Communication in History reveals how media has been influential in both maintaining social order and as powerful agents of change Thirty eight contributions from a wide range of voices offer instructors the opportunity to customize their courses while challenging students to build upon their own knowledge and skill sets From stone age symbols and early writing to the Internet and social media readers are introduced to an expansive intellectually enlivening study of the relationship between human history and communication media The New Media Theory Reader Hassan, Robert, Thomas, Julian, 2006-09-01 The study of new media opens up some of the most fascinating issues in contemporary culture bringing together key readings on new media what it is where it came from how it affects our lives and how it is managed It encourages readers to pay attention to the new in new media as well as consider it as a historical phenomenon
