A Darker Ribbon Breast Cancer Women And Their Doctors In The Twentieth Century:

A Darker Ribbon Ellen Leopold,1999-10-30 The first cultural history of breast cancer this book examines the social attitudes the other between Rachel Carson who was writing Silent Spring as she was battling breast cancer her personal physician George Crile Jr Tells how the cancer establishment got the active support of the American population thus opening a new window on 20th century medical history A path breaking inquiry into the sociopolitical history of cancer A Darker Ribbon Ellen Leopold,2000-10-17 The first cultural history of breast cancer this book examines the social attitudes and medical treatments that together defined the modern relationship between women with the disease and their doctors At the heart of the book are two unpublished correspondences one between Barbara Mueller a woman diagnosed with breast cancer eighty years ago and her surgeon William Steward Halsted father of the radical mastectomy and the other between Rachel Carson who was writing Silent Spring as she was battling breast cancer and her personal physician George Crile Jr

Women's Health and Medicine: Transforming Perspect Alice J. Dan,Sue V. Rosser,2003-06 A vital collection of essays on women s health and women s health studies edited by leaders in the field No Mammo? Rachel Campergue,2025-07-23 Every year the month of October is decked out in pink with countless posters calling on people to crusade against breast cancer through mammography Why are public health officials doctors associations and laboratories so keen to do this Are women really well informed about the risks they run by undergoing screening And do the promised benefits really exist Rachel Campergue was outraged by gynecologists obstinacy in forcing her to undergo mammography What she discovered was appalling By infantilizing women public authorities promote confusion between prevention and screening Doctors do not have adequate knowledge to ensure that the consents they obtain from their patients are indeed informed As for the associations they are the agents of a juicy business that benefits above all the manufacturers of health products The conclusion of this abundant precise and humorous work is without appeal a cancer detected by mammography does not equal a life saved and if you choose to have one every two years do so with full knowledge of the facts

Communicating Women's Health Annette Madlock Gatison,2015-12-07 This volume explores the conditions under which women are empowered and feel entitled to make the health decisions that are best for them At its core it illuminates how the most basic element of communication voice has been summarily suppressed for entire groups of women when it comes to control of their own sexuality reproductive lives and health By giving voice to these women s experiences the book shines a light on ways to improve health communication for women Bringing together personal narratives key theory and literature and original qualitative and quantitative studies the book provides an in depth comparative picture of how and why women s health varies for distinct groups of women Organized into four parts historical influences on patient and provider perceptions breast cancer the silence and the shame make it taboo mothering reproduction and womanhood and sex sexuality relational health and womanhood each section is introduced with a brief synthesis and discussion of the key questions addressed across the chapters Pink Ribbons, Inc. Samantha King, 2008-05-19 Samantha King explains how beyond being an all too frequent and still too lethal disease for many women breast cancer is a corporate dream come true Herizons Fascinating King s deft and thoughtful interpretation of the pink ribbon phenomenon is an important wake up call Going against the grain she takes a clear eyed look at a trend that often seems to outshine the disease that put it on the map Women s Review of Books King s criticisms of breast cancer philanthropy provide a new means of looking at one of our culture s most celebrated causes For anyone who has ever squirreled away yogurt lids for the cause Pink Ribbons Inc is food for thought Bitch A fascinating read for anyone whose life has been touched by breast cancer Curve Breast cancer advocacy is being transformed from meaningful civic participation into purchasing products To understand the personal social and political costs read this book Barbara Brenner Executive Director of Breast Cancer Action In Pink Ribbons Inc Samantha King traces how breast cancer has been transformed from a stigmatized disease and individual tragedy to a market driven industry of survivorship Here for the first time King questions the effectiveness and legitimacy of privately funded efforts to stop the epidemic among American women Highly revelatory at times shocking Pink Ribbons Inc challenges the commercialization of the breast cancer movement Samantha King is associate professor of physical and health education and women s studies at Queen s University in Kingston Ontario The Green Solution to Breast Cancer Kristen Abatsis McHenry Ph.D., 2015-09-22 This unique research based investigation of the U S breast cancer movement compares the pink and green efforts within the movement and documents their use of similar citizen science alliances despite the contention over the use of consumer based activism and pink products Breast cancer activism is one of the most flourishing research and health advocacy movements in U S history Yet the incidence of breast cancer is continuing to increase This critical and revealing text investigates breast cancer activism in its two forms the pink movement that focuses on developing awareness of coping with and managing breast cancer and the green movement that strives to determine the possible environmental causes of breast cancer such as pesticides chemicals and water and air pollution and thereby hopes to prevent breast cancer What caused this new green movement to develop Will it replace or merge with the pink movement Does either approach offer more promise for a solution And how do the two movements differ in their positions or methodology towards a similar goal With information culled from interviews with more than 50 industry stakeholders The Green Solution to Breast Cancer A Promise for Prevention argues that key attributes such as strategy mission and branding have led to a greater convergence between the pink and green wings of the movement and presents information that enables readers to consider if either approach might be the shorter route to beating breast cancer Stress, Shock, and Adaptation in the Twentieth Century David Cantor, Edmund Ramsden, 2014 This edited volume brings together leading scholars to explore the emergence of the stress concept and its ever changing definitions since the 1940s Stress is one of the most widely utilized medical concepts in modern society Originally used to describe physiological responses to trauma it is now applied in a variety of other fields and contexts such as in the construction and expression of personal identity social relations building and engineering and the various complexities of the competitive capitalist economy In addition scientists and medical experts use the concept to explore the relationship between an ever increasing number of environmental stressors and the evolution of an expanding range of mental and chronic organic diseases such as hypertension gastric ulcers arthritis allergies and cancer This edited volume brings together leading scholars to explore the emergence and development of the stress concept and its definitions as they have changed over time It examines how stress and closely related concepts have been used to connect disciplines such as architecture ecology physiology psychiatry psychology public health urban planning and a range of social sciences its application in different settings such as the battlefield workplace clinic hospital and home and the advancement of techniques of stress management in a number of different national sociocultural and scientific locations Contributors Theodore M Brown David Cantor Otniel E Dror Rhodri Hayward Mark Jackson Robert G W Kirk Junko Kitanaka Tulley Long Joseph Melling Edmund Ramsden Elizabeth Siegel Watkins Allan Young David Cantor is acting director Office of History National Institutes of Health Edmund Ramsden is Wellcome Trust University Award Research Fellow at the School of History Queen Mary University of London The Ethics of Care Alan Blum, Stuart Murray, 2016-07-28 Beginning with a focus on the ethical foundations of caregiving in health and expanding towards problems of ethics and justice implicated in a range of issues this book develops and expands the notion of care itself and its connection to practice Organised around the themes of culture as a restraint on caregiving in different social contexts and situations innovative methods in healthcare and the way in which culture works to position care as part of a rhetorical approach to dependency responsibility and justice The Ethics of Care presents case studies examining institutional responses to end of life issues the notion of informed consent biomedicine indigenous rights and postcolonialism in care and theoretical approaches to the concept of care Offering discussions from a variety of disciplinary approaches including sociology communication and social theory as well as hermeneutics phenomenology and deconstruction this book will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in healthcare medicine justice and the question of how we think about care as a notion and social form and how this is related to practice
