Building A Character

Judd E. Hollander

Building Character Amy Cook, 2018-02-28 What can we learn about how we understand each other and ourselves by examining the casting we find on stage and film the casting we find perfect and the casting we find wrong Building Character examines how the process of casting an actor in a part creates a character and how this can be usefully understood through deploying theories from the cognitive sciences A casting director may match the perceived qualities of an actor with the perceived qualities of the character but the combination is also synergistic casting a character creates qualities While casting directors do this professionally all of us do this when we make sense of the people around us This book argues that we build the characters of others from a sea of stimuli and that the process of watching actors take on roles improves our ability to cast those roles in our daily lives Amy Cook examines the visible celebrity casting such as Robert Downey Jr as Ironman or Judi Dench as Bond's M the political casting of one candidate as presidential and another as weak the miscasting of racial profiling and sexual assault and the counter casting that results when actors and characters are not where or who we expect

Building Character Charles L. Davis II, 2019-09-06 In the nineteenth century paradigm of architectural organicism the notion that buildings possessed character provided architects with a lens for relating the buildings they designed to the populations they served Advances in scientific race theory enabled designers to think of race and style as manifestations of natural law just as biological processes seemed to inherently regulate the racial characters that made humans a perfect fit for their geographical contexts architectural characters became a rational product of design Parallels between racial and architectural characters provided a rationalist model of design that fashioned some of the most influential national building styles of the past from the pioneering concepts of French structural rationalism and German tectonic theory to the nationalist associations of the Chicago Style the Prairie Style and the International Style In Building Character Charles Davis traces the racial charge of the architectural writings of five modern theorists Eugene Emmanuel Viollet le Duc Gottfried Semper Louis Sullivan Frank Lloyd Wright and William Lescaze to highlight the social political and historical significance of the spatial structural and ornamental elements of modern architectural styles Building a Character Konstantin Stanislavsky, 2008 In his most famous book An Actor Prepares Stanislavski dealt with the imaginative processes In the second book Building a Character he deals with the physical realisation of character on the stage expressions movement and speech etc It is a book in which every theory is inextricably bound up with practice a perfect handbook to the physical art of acting The work of Stanislavski has inspired generations of actors and trainers This edition now reprinted with a new cover at a more accessible price has stood the test of time for actors all over the world and was the original English language translation A classic text for every actors library An Actor must work all his life cultivate his mind train his talents systematically develop his character he may never despair and never relinquish this main purpose to love his art with all his strength and love it unselfishly Constantin Stanislavski Activities for Building Character and Social-Emotional Learning Grades 6-8 Katia S.
