Be Good Sweet Maid The Trials Of Dorothy Joudrie:

Be Good, Sweet Maid Audrey Andrews, 2011-08-25 January 21 1995 Dorothy Joudrie is arrested for attempting to murder her estranged husband Soon after Audrey Andrews begins to write her book Audrey and Dorothy had known each other as children but the identification of Andrews with Joudrie goes beyond merely the accident of a childhood acquaintance It has to do with being subjected to the same societal constraints placed on girls and women during the years immediately following World War II the years in which they had prepared for their adult lives Expectations placidly accepted then are now seen as unrealistic and unreasonable Did these expectations have some part in causing the tragedy in Dorothy Joudrie's life When Andrews attempted to understand why Dorothy Joudrie had tried to kill her husband and to write Joudrie's story she began to examine her own life her own expectations those she had of herself and those others had of her She also realized that telling the story of anyone is an intricate and often ephemeral pursuit Any story she wrote could only be her version of Joudrie's experience Nevertheless it was important to be as honest as she could about her interpretation of that life She determined to show carefully and accurately the damage that had been done to one woman damage that is still being done to many others through prejudice attitudes traditions and the institutions that are still the foundation of our society and of our lives everyday The result is a fascinating account of events leading up to the trial the trial itself and the effect of Joudrie's trial on the life of Audrey Andrews

Tracing the Autobiographical Marlene Kadar, Susanna Egan, 2009-10-22 The essays in Tracing the Autobiographical work with the literatures of several nations to reveal the intersections of broad agendas for example national ones with the personal the private and the individual Attending to ethics exile tyranny and hope the contributors listen for echoes and murmurs as well as authoritative declarations They also watch for the appearance of autobiography in unexpected places tracing patterns from materials that have been left behind Many of the essays return to the question of text or traces of text demonstrating that the language of autobiography as well as the textualized identities of individual persons can be traced in multiple media and sometimes unlikely documents each of which requires close textual examination These unlikely documents include a deportation list an art exhibit reality TV Web sites and chat rooms architectural spaces and government memos as well as the more familiar literary genres a play the long poem or the short story Interdisciplinary in scope and contemporary in outlook Tracing the Autobiographical is a welcome addition to autobiography scholarship focusing on non traditional genres and on the importance of location and place in life writing Read the chapter Gender Nation and Self Narration Three Generations of Dayan Women in Palestine Israel by Bina Freiwald on the Concordia University Library Spectrum Research Repository website

Love and War in London Olivia Cockett, 2009-08-03 Olivia Cockett was twenty six years old in the summer of 1939 when she responded to an invitation from Mass Observation to ordinary individuals to keep a diary of their everyday lives attitudes feelings and social relations This book is an annotated unabridged edition of her candid and evocative diary Love and War in London A Woman's Diary 1939

1942 is rooted in the extraordinary milieu of wartime London Vibrant and engaging Olivia's diary reveals her frustrations fears pleasures and self doubts She records her mood swings and tries to understand them and speaks of her lover a married man and the intense relationship they have As she and her friends and family in New Scotland Yard are swept up by the momentous events of another European war she vividly reports on what she sees and hears in her daily life Hers is a diary that brings together the personal and the public It permits us to understand how one intelligent imaginative woman struggled to make sense of her life as the city in which she lived was drawn into the turmoil of a catastrophic war The

Memory of Water Allen Smutylo, 2014-06-19 Over the last forty years Canadian adventurer writer and artist Allen Smutylo has experienced some of the wildest and most captivating waters imaginable in all corners of the globe The stories in The Memory of Water all of them accompanied by the author's own stunning artwork describe his adventures in the Arctic South Pacific Great Lakes region and India In the Arctic he is attacked by a polar bear stalked by a rogue walrus and nearly drowns in ferocious waters But his Arctic stories also celebrate human creativity as they recount the life of the pre Inuit people who hunting in a changing environment endured many hardships and developed new technologies such as the sea kayak to cope Other stories include an account of a sojourn in a small Georgian Bay fishing village as a young artist an adventure on an urban river in southwestern Ontario and a portrayal of the complex underwater world of the South Pacific Travelling the River Ganges in India the author finds that a massive misuse of water is complicated by a billion people's faith based adoration of the same water The Memory of Water probes a crucial and contemporary issue that of our relationship to water and the wildlife and human life that depends upon it This book will appeal to anyone interested in the natural world in artistic depictions of it or in a good story well told Basements and Attics, Closets and Cyberspace Linda M. Morra, Jessica

Schagerl, 2013-01-24 Women's letters and memoirs were until recently considered to have little historical significance Many of these materials have disappeared or remain unarchived often dismissed as ephemera and relegated to basements attics closets and increasingly cyberspace rather than public institutions This collection showcases the range of critical debates that animate thinking about women's archives in Canada The essays in Basements and Attics Closets and Cyberspace consider a series of central questions What are the challenges that affect archival work about women in Canada today What are some of the ethical dilemmas that arise over the course of archival research How do researchers read and make sense of the materials available to them How does one approach the shifting unstable forms of new technologies What principles inform the decisions not only to research the lives of women but to create archival deposits The contributors focus on how a supple research process might allow for greater engagement with unique archival forms and critical absences in narratives of past and present From questions of acquisition deposition and preservation to challenges related to the interpretation of material the contributors track at various stages how fonds are created or sidestepped in response to national and other imperatives and to feminist commitments how archival material is organized restricted accessed and interpreted how alternative and immediate archives might be conceived and approached and how exchanges might be read when there are peculiar lacunae missing or fragmented documents or gaps in communication that then require imaginative leaps on the part of the researcher

163256 Michael Englishman, 2009-07-21 163256 A Memoir of Resistance is Michael Englishman's astonishing story of courage resourcefulness and moral fibre as a Dutch Jew during World War II and its aftermath from the Nazi occupation of Holland in 1940 through his incarceration in numerous death and labour camps to his eventual liberation by Allied soldiers in 1945 and his emigration to Canada Surviving by his wits Englishman escaped death time and again committing daring acts of bravery to do what he thought was right helping other prisoners escape and actively participating in the underground resistance A man who refused to surrender his spirit despite the loss of his wife and his entire family to the Nazis Englishman kept a promise he had made to a friend and sought his friend's children after the war With the children's mother he made a new life in Canada where he continued his resistance tracking neo-Nazi cells and infiltrating their headquarters to destroy their files Until his death in August 2007 Englishman remained active speaking out against racism and hatred in seminars for young people His gripping story should be widely read and will be of interest to scholars of autobiography World War II history and the Holocaust

Accident of Fate Imre Rochlitz, Joseph Rochlitz, 2011-07-07 Accident of Fate is a first hand account of persecution rescue and resistance in the Axis occupied former Yugoslavia At the age of thirteen Imre Rochlitz fled to Yugoslavia from his childhood home in Vienna following the Nazi Anschluss leaving his family behind In January 1942 the Ustashe Croatian Fascists arrested and interned him in the Jasenovac death camp where he dug mass graves On the verge of death Rochlitz was released due to the extraordinary intervention of a Nazi general He escaped to the Adriatic coast where he and several thousand other Jewish refugees were protected by the army of Fascist Italy After Italy's surrender he joined Tito's Partisans becoming an officer and army veterinarian and rescued dozens of downed Allied airmen In 1945 he fled Yugoslavia's Communist regime and reached liberated southern Italy In 1947 at the age of twenty two he emigrated to the United States With unique personal photographs and documents supporting the text this eyewitness narrative covers little known topics and provides a revealing historical account of the period The book helps clarify and render accessible the complexities and contradictions of conflict and genocide in wartime Yugoslavia

Just a Larger Family Mary F. Williamson, Tom Sharp, 2011-05-15 The Second World War had been under way for a year when Marie and John Williamson welcomed two English brothers to join them and their two children in their small house in north Toronto for the duration of the conflict Marie wrote over 150 letters to the boys' mother Margaret Sharp imagining that she could make Margaret feel she was still with her children She shepherded the boys through education decisions and illnesses eased them into a strange new life and rejoiced when they embraced unfamiliar winter sports The letters brim with detail about family holidays the financial implications of an extended family their involvement in their church and the games and activities that kept them occupied Marie's letters reflect the lives and concerns of a particular family in Toronto but they also reveal a portrait of what was then Canada's second largest city during wartime The introduction is by Mary F Williamson Marie's daughter and Tom Sharp Margaret's youngest son The book features a foreword by Jonathan Vance that puts the letters in historical context

Borrowed Tongues Eva C. Karpinski, 2012-05-01 Borrowed Tongues is the first consistent attempt to apply the theoretical framework of translation studies in the analysis of self representation in life writing by women in transnational diasporic and immigrant communities It focuses on linguistic and philosophical dimensions of translation showing how the dominant language serves to articulate and reinforce social cultural political and gender hierarchies Drawing on feminist poststructuralist and postcolonial scholarship this study examines Canadian and American examples of traditional autobiography autoethnography and experimental narrative As a prolific and contradictory site of linguistic performance and cultural production such texts challenge dominant assumptions about identity difference and agency Using the writing of authors such as Marlene Nourbaeva Philip Jamaica Kincaid Laura Goodman Salverson and Akemi Kikumura and focusing on discourses through which subject positions and identities are produced the study argues that different concepts of language and translation correspond with particular constructions of subjectivity and attitudes to otherness A nuanced analysis of intersectional differences reveals gender race ethnicity nationality culture and diaspora as unstable categories of representation

Leaving Fundamentalism G. Elijah Dann, 2009-07-30 In a time when religious conservatives have placed their faith and values at the forefront of the so called culture wars this book is extremely relevant The stories in Leaving Fundamentalism provide a personal and intimate look behind sermons religious services and church life and promote an understanding of those who have been deeply involved in the conservative Christian church These autobiographies come from within the congregations and homes of religious fundamentalists where their highly idealized faith in all its complexities and problems meets the reality of everyday life Told from the perspective of distance gained by leaving fundamentalism each story gives the reader a snapshot of what it is like to go through the experiences thoughts feelings passions and pains that for many of the writers are still raw Explaining how their lives might continue after fundamentalism these writers offer a spiritual lifeline for others who may be questioning their faith Foreword by Thomas Moore
