Battenberg And Point Lace:

The Priscilla Battenberg and Point Lace Book Nellie Clarke Brown, 2013-12 An Excerpt from the Beginning HOW TO MAKE BATTENBERG AND POINT LACE SELECTION OF MATERIALS THE same rules and instruction apply to Battenberg and modern point lace The latter being much the finer and more delicate requires more time and patience Both deserve equal care BRAID AND THREAD The pattern being chosen select a smooth linen braid Great care should be taken to avoid getting a cotton braid The beauty and value of many a piece of Battenberg lace has been lessened because it was made with cotton braid The working thread as well as all other parts of the work should always be linen There are various lace threads that are good and each has its friends Some of the threads that are so slightly twisted as to resemble floss are good for the filling of rings and when a soft indefinite effect is desired is the right thing for their covering of buttonhole stitch or crochet When it is desired to have each thread in the covering of the ring stand out distinctly thread more tightly twisted should be used For over casting the braid Nos 70 or 80 may be used while for the filling in stitches Nos 40 to 60 should be selected according to the degree of fineness desired in the work The narrow braid calls for a finer thread than the wider braid requires None of the cotton threads should be used for any part of the permanent work To avoid knots and tangles in the working thread the needle should always be threaded from the right end of the thread and before working the thread should be drawn through the thumb and finger of the left hand to lessen its liability to twist and tangle For needle point lace the best thread is the Petit Moulin linen lace thread manufactured for the purpose in France This thread may be had in numbers from 30 to 1500 For the very finest lace Nos 1000 to 1500 should be used while for doilies and handkerchiefs it is advisable to use a slightly heavier thread Nos 600 to 1000 are good In making Honiton and princess lace Nos 400 to 600 are most effective The coarser threads are excellent for Battenberg lace This thread comes in balls varying in size from the tiny ball of No 1500 to the large ball of No 30 Around the outside is pasted a ring of stiff paper which serves as a protector for the thread and keeps it free from soil This paper should not be removed but the thread should be used from the centre of the ball On one side of the ball is a thread passing across from the centre to the circumference By pulling this thread an end is discovered and the ball unwinds from the inside in the fashion of most balls of thread and twine It is advisable to put the ball into a little box through a puncture in the lid of which the thread may be drawn without risk of soil or injury Thread bags of various kinds may be used instead of the box RINGS Very excellent rings may be bought ready for use but many ladies prefer to make them For their use a very handy little ring gauge has been invented and is shown in miniature in Fig 1 This provides for the making of rings in six different sizes and permits of their being made of any thickness desired The thread or floss is wound around the chosen section of the ring gauge a sufficient number of times perhaps twenty to make the ring of the necessary thickness The thread or floss should be loose enough to allow of its being overcast To do this thread a needle and pass it repeatedly around the roll of threads by pushing the needle between the threads and the ring gauge When it is closely overcast push the thread ring carefully off the ring gauge without marring its circular shape To do this successfully give it a series of little pushes with the thumb around and around its circumference until it slips off It is now a ring of threads held in place by the over casting thread which is coiled around it The Priscilla Battenberg and Point Lace Book Mrs. Nellie Clarke Brown,1912 PRISCILLA BATTENBERG & POINT L Nellie Clarke Mrs Brown, 1862,Priscilla Publishing Co,2016-08-28 Battenberg and Point Lace Book Nellie Clarke Brown,1987 A pre publication of the Priscilla Battenberg and point lace book by Nellie Brown ILL demand The Priscilla Battenberg and Point Lace Book; A Collection of Lace Stitches with Working Directions for Braid Laces - Scholar's Choice Edition Nellie Clarke Brown,Priscilla Publishing Co,2015-02-12 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant How to Make Battenberg and Point Lace Nellie Clarke Brown,1900 How to Make Battenberg and Point Lace ,1981 The Priscilla Battenberg and Point Lace Book; a Collection of Lace Stitches with Working Directions for Braid Laces - Primary Source Edition Nellie Clarke Brown,Priscilla Publishing Co,2014-03 This is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 This book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process We believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide We appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process and hope you enjoy this valuable book The Priscilla Battenberg and Point Lace Book Nellie Clarke Brown,2009 Battenberg and Point Lace Kaethe Kliot,1978-01-01
