Race and the Making of American Liberalism Carol A. Horton, 2005-09-08 Race and the Making of American Liberalism traces the roots of the contemporary crisis of progressive liberalism deep into the nation's racial past Horton argues that the contemporary conservative claim that the American liberal tradition has been rooted in a color blind conception of individual rights is inaccurate and misleading In contrast American liberalism has alternatively served both to support and oppose racial hierarchy as well as socioeconomic inequality more broadly Racial politics in the United States have repeatedly made it exceedingly difficult to establish powerful constituencies that understand socioeconomic equity as vital to American democracy and aspire to limit gross disparities of wealth power and status Revitalizing such equalitarian conceptions of American liberalism Horton suggests will require developing new forms of racial and class identity that support rather than sabotage this fundamental political commitment
