AIDS TV Alexandra Juhasz, Catherine Gund, 1995 Camcorder AIDS activism is a prime example of a new form of political expression an outburst of committed low budget community produced political video work made possible by new accessible technologies As Alexandra Juhasz looks at this phenomenon why and how video has become the medium for so much AIDS activism she also tries to make sense of the bigger picture How is this work different from mainstream television How does it alter what we think of the media s form and function The result is an eloquent and vital assessment of the role media activism plays in the development of community identity and self empowerment An AIDS videomaker herself Juhasz writes from the standpoint of an AIDS activist and blends feminist film critique with her own experience She offers a detailed description of alternative AIDS video including her own work on the Women s AIDS Video Enterprise WAVE Along with WAVE Juhasz discusses amateur video tapes of ACT UP demonstrations safer sex videos produced by Gay Men s Health Crisis public access programming and PBS documentaries as well as network television productions From its close up look at camcorder AIDS activism to its critical account of mainstream representations AIDS TV offers a better understanding of the media politics identity and community in the face of AIDS It will challenge and encourage those who hope to change the course of this crisis both in the real world and in the world of representation

Mass Media James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes Out, 1995 GLQ, 1996 Science Wars Andrew Ross, 1996 At a time when scientific knowledge is systematically whisked out of the domain of education and converted into private capital the essays in this volume are sharply critical of the conservative defense of a value free science They suggest that in a world steeped in nuclear biogenic and chemical overdevelopment those who are skeptical of technology are more than entitled to ask for evidence of rationality in those versions of scientific progress that respond only to the managerial needs of state corporate and military elites Whether uncovering the gender laden assumptions built into the Western scientific method redefining the scientific claim to objectivity showing the relationship between science s empirical worldview and that of mercantile capitalism or showing how the powerful language of science exercises its daily cultural authority in our society the essays in Science Wars announce their own powerful message Analyzing the antidemocratic tendencies within science and its institutions they insist on a more accountable relationship between scientists and the communities and environments affected by their research Jacket Sexpolitiques Marie-Hélène Bourcier, 2005 4e de couv Comme un immense jeu de quilles dont ce livre serait la boule et o l on verrait valser en tous sens la r publique straight blanche m le h t rosexuelle l
